Battles Flare on 2 Approaches to Saigon

SAIGON (AP) - U.S. troops guarding the southern approaches to Saigon battled the Viet Cong today at two points nine miles apart.

Helicopters landed more than 1,000 men from the 9th Division in rice fields 24 miles south of Saigon in an attempt to encircle an enemy force estimated at more than 100 troops.

Details were sketchy, and no casualty figures were reported as yet. But the fighting was said to be heavy at times.

That fight was just south of Rach Kien, a key district capital.

Humphrey Pegs Votes at 1,600

By The Associated Press Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, expressing confidence he'll win the Democratic presidential nomination on the first convention ballot, has pegged his delegate strength at 1,600 votes.

And Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox says he may turn the Democratic race into a four-way battle to show Americans the party "offers more than liberals and socialists."

The Democratic nomination in Chicago in two weeks will require 1,312 votes and Humphrey was asked Sunday if his estimate of delegate strength means he thinks he has the first-ballot nomination sewed up.

"Let me tell you I feel rather relaxed," Humphrey replied. "I feel good. I think we ought to be looking forward to November."

Humphrey also said the Paris peace talks are "at a serious stage" and America's position with Hanoi should not be weakened by loose talk by candidates.

"If I can lend one little note of optimism today," he said, "which I do very carefully and with prudence and caution, I would say that the negotiations, while they have been sticky and they have been slow and they appear many times not to be productive, that those negotiations are at a serious stage."

Humphrey was interviewed on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

Sen. George S. McGovern, the newest declared Democratic contender, said a certain "disquietude" he detects among delegates gives him "at least a fighting chance" to beat Humphrey and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

McGovern was interviewed on NBC's "Meet the Press."

But an Associated Press survey after McGovern entered the race Saturday showed he drew immediate support from only two delegates, both from Nebraska. The South Dakota senator already had his state's 26 delegate votes.

McCarthy, bidding for support from California's 174 delegates, said in Sacramento

McGovern Gains Few Delegates in First 2 Days

WASHINGTON (AP) - Net gain for Sen. George S. McGovern after two days in the Democratic presidential race appears to be endorsement by several former Kennedy aides, approving nods from some former Kennedy supporters and two delegate votes.

McCarthy, bidding for support from California's 174 delegates, said in Sacramento

His schedule included three tentative television taping or live sessions today and another Tuesday.

McGovern, a 46-year-old former college professor with a record of winning uphill fights, invoked the name of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy numerous times when he formally announced Saturday.

He launched his candidacy in the Caucus Room of the old Senate Office Building where both Robert and John Kennedy launched theirs.

McGovern said he would campaign on a Kennedy-style get-out-of-Vietnam plank.

"I believe deeply in the twin goals for which Robert Kennedy gave his life," he said, "an end to the war in Vietnam and a passionate commitment to heal the division in our own society."

His avowed hope is to pick up the 300-plus convention delegates pledged to Kennedy when the New York senator was slain last June 6. But the immediate impact was far from encouraging.

Only two members of the Nebraska delegation which Kennedy won in a primary declared their support for McGovern, an Associated Press poll showed.

Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh, leader of the 174-member California delegation, said he was "very happy to see Sen. McGovern participate" in the race.

But the delegation won by Kennedy only hours before he was shot reaffirmed its intention to go to the convention uncommitted.

The chairman of the Nebraska delegation said 20 to 23 of the 30 members are still unpledged although this could change at a caucus this week.

In Colorado, State Rep. Richard Gebhart who headed Kennedy's state campaign, said he had no reason to believe Kennedy-pledged delegates would come out for McGovern before the convention.

There was no comment from the Kennedy family, but McGovern said he neither expected nor would seek any.

Quick endorsement came from former Kennedy aides Pierre Salinger, Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr. and Frank Mankiewicz. The latter handled press matters for Robert Kennedy and will do the same for McGovern.

McGovern said he had talked to other top Kennedy aides and had been given "a very green light from all of them."

But both Humphrey and McCarthy indicated they expect McGovern to have little impact on their campaigns.

"I really don't think it will have appreciable effect," said Humphrey who also claimed 1,600 delegate votes, more than the 1,312 needed for nomination.

McCarthy, echoing the same sentiment, said that if anything it will make it easier for Kennedy delegates to "come to me."

McGovern, before he announced, had 26 delegates committed to him. They represent the South Dakota

North Y Site Selection Reported

The First United Methodist church will build a new church building on a site near the North Y intersection of highways 61 and Business route 61, according to published reports.

These reports were that the church would acquire seven acres for the church site there. No details were available.

There was no immediate confirmation from church officers or the Rev. Joseph Wagner, pastor.

The Rev. Mr. Wagner promised to telephone information but the newspaper did not receive a call in time for publication early this afternoon.

Fire destroyed the sanctuary of the church, a Sikeston landmark at North New Madrid and Harris streets, March 24.

Denied Pony, Boy, 13, Hangs Self

EAST PRAIRIE-Despondent because his parents refused to buy him a pony, Tony Elbert Woods, 13, hanged himself in the hay loft of the barn on the farm of his father, Alfred Woods, five miles south of East Prairie at 11:45 a.m. Saturday.

Coroner Elgin McMikle, reported that the boy became despondent following an argument with his parents over the pony.

The parents then left the home Saturday morning to go to East Prairie. After they left, the boy ran to the barn, climbed a small ladder to the loft, placed a saddle over the trap door of the loft, to keep anyone from entering.

He threw a thin cord over the rafters 20 feet above the floor, McMikle said, and tied one end around his neck, with his feet still on the loft floor.

He pulled the other end of the rope. Death was caused by strangulation.

A brother, Gary, and sister, Mary Sue, ran to the barn after finding their brother had left the house. They reached him within 15 minutes but he died before they released the tight cord.

There will be no inquest, according to the coroner.

The boy was born at Kennett April 23, 1955.

Surviving are his parents, three sisters, Mrs. Bobby Rouse, Kennett; Mrs. Jennie Martin, Detroit; and Miss Mary Sue Woods, seven brothers, Jackie, Indo, Calif.; Alfred and Larry, both of Detroit; Billy, Robert and Hulon, all of Hickman, Ky., and Gary Woods; his paternal grandfather, Albert Woods, Guy, Ark.; and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Rhene Henderson, Little Rock.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Shelby Funeral Home with the Rev. Herman Casey officiating.

Burial will be in the WOW Cemetery.

Nixon's Views Blasted in Hanoi

PARIS (AP) - A North Vietnamese spokesman today blasted both the Republican and Democratic parties of the United States, but saved a special attack for the Republican presidential candidate, Richard M. Nixon.

The way was left open for more specific criticism of the Democratic candidate after that party's convention later this month.

Nguyen Thanh Le, spokesman for the North Vietnamese delegation at the Paris peace talks with the United States, went into American politics at a news conference.

He said that the Republican platform and Nixon's personal stand could not possibly lead to an end to the Vietnamese war.

Le asserted he did not want to interfere with the internal affairs of the United States, but thought it was pertinent to give his views on Republican statements concerning Vietnam.

He added that he was not referring to any policies of Nixon other than those concerning Vietnam.

Le referred to the platform plan on Vietnam adopted by the Republicans at Miami Beach and said "this program does not propose the unconditional halt of bombing and other acts of war against the Peoples Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam, and does not speak of withdrawing American troops from Vietnam."

These have been two of the principal demands of the North Vietnamese at Paris.

Furthermore, Le argued that before the Paris talks opened Nixon had recommended an intensification and extension of the war in Vietnam. He quoted Nixon as saying that he refused to "sell out" South Vietnam.

"Nixon has pushed impudence to the limit in considering the southern part of our country as his property," Le said.

Le also said that such an attitude shows that Nixon recommends a perpetuation of the division of the country and a continued policy of neocolonialism in South Vietnam.

Le volunteered his comments on the Republican party and Nixon at the news conference. When a reporter asked if he had anything to say about the Democratic party or perhaps Vice President Hubert H.

Maddox May Seek Demo Nomination

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) - Gov. Lester Maddox formally announced today that he is "giving serious consideration to announcing my candidacy to seek the nomination" for president.

Maddox made the announcement at a news conference which he called while in Savannah to address a convention of the Georgia Municipal Association.

The governor said at this time the chances are greater that he will seek the nomination than that he will not. He said he would make a firm decision no later than Saturday.

He said he has been in touch with conservative leaders in various parts of the country, and that they agree with him the present candidates for the Democratic nomination represent exclusively the liberal wing of the party.

In response to questions about third-party candidate George Wallace, of whom Maddox has been an outspoken admirer, the governor said, "I don't think that I'll ever be in a position of running against Gov. Wallace."

Maddox declined to elaborate on the meaning of his statement, but the clear indication was that Wallace would withdraw if Maddox was successful in a bid for the Democratic nomination.

"I'm not going to tell you that," Maddox said when asked if that were the case. "Then, you would know it all."

Maddox did say, however, that he has discussed the possibility of seeking the nomination with Wallace.

Earlier in Atlanta, the 52-year-old former restaurant owner who was elected governor by the Georgia Legislature, said his candidacy would offer voters a choice between one conservative and three socialists.

"I have no intention of running as a favorite son," he added.

Maddox said Sunday he had not discussed the idea with national or state Democratic party officials, and had no idea what their reaction would be.

After losing several elections including two for mayor, and 1962 race for lieutenant governor, Maddox defeated former Gov. Ellis G. Arnall for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1966.

He was elected governor in January 1967 by the Georgia General Assembly after neither he nor Republican Howard "Bo" Callaway received a majority of general election votes. Callaway outpolled Maddox by 3,039 votes.

Before his election, Maddox, 52, became known as the Atlanta restaurant owner who closed rather than comply with the 1964 Civil Rights Act to serve Negroes.

Maddox said the Democratic party nominees, including South Dakota Sen. George S. McGovern who announced Saturday, offer no choice.

Autopsies Performed on Mystery Poison Victims

FORT MYERS, FLA. - Five men unloading a cargo of fish were fatally stricken Sunday and one-by-one toppled into the hold of the fishing trawler Novelty.

The nature of the poison in the hold remained a mystery, and autopsies were performed today on the victims. Toxic samples taken from the ship's hold were analyzed.

Lee County sheriff's investigator James Loeffler said, "We don't know what killed them or where it came from. They either got a whiff of a toxic gas or some sort of chemical poison."

Back from a successful trip, the crew of the 125-foot trawler Novelty and dockworkers were preparing to flood the ship's hold to enable huge pumps to pull out both water and fish.

"When the water was turned on," Loeffler said, "the man holding the hose immediately collapsed and fell into the hold."

The first man to react, Francis L. Winter, 53, of Punta Gorda, Fla., jumped through the hatch and reached the body when he, too, keeled over.

As he slumped into the hold, his brother, Joseph, 55, also of Punta Gorda, raced to the hatchway. He got his feet on the ladder and his hand on the rail when the poison hit him and he fell the rest of the way, Loeffler said.

"The other two men never left the deck," the investigator said. "They just looked into the hold and collapsed through the hatch."

He said a sixth man was felled by the incredibly fast-acting poison, but was rescued by the ship's one-armed cook, Clyde Parrish, and dock worker Roy McNeely.

"All of this transpired in less than two minutes," Loeffler said. McNeely descended with a rope while holding his breath and raised the last man to be felled.

"Parrish is the hero if there is one," Loeffler said. Without knowing what had stricken his shipmates and the dock workers, he administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

Loeffler said Lawrence Finley, 33, of North Port Charlotte, began to breathe without aid and was rushed to a nearby hospital where he was reported unconscious and in critical condition.

Meanwhile, William Conrad of the Fort Myers fire department rescue team, went into the smelly hold with ropes and brought up the body of Kenneth Smith, 55, manager of the fish processing plant where the ship was docked.

Conrad, who had no mask, held his breath while working in the hold.

The fireman repeated his rescue attempt when he saw the body of Stephen Richmond, 18-year-old second engineer on the boat.

The other bodies were brought up by firemen after gas masks arrived at the wharf. Besides the Winter brothers there was Francis Webb, 23, of Peace Dale, R.I., the boat's pilot.

Loeffler said the poison and its source remained unknown. "It's unfathomable," he said. "We don't even know if it was gas or liquid. We don't know if it came out of the tank holding the wash water or what."

The deputy said the U.S. Department of Labor ordered the fishery, the Protein Products Co., sealed off and the U.S. Bureau of Fisheries began an investigation.

Creative Localism Plan Faulted

ST. LOUIS (AP) - A report prepared by a member of the St. Louis comptroller's office has faulted Missouri Governor Warren E. Hearnes' so-called "creative localism" plan.

The report entitled "The Urban Fiscal Crisis - the St. Louis Perspective" was written by Richard Meadows. It is to be used as a fact book by Missouri urban mayors who are trying to get a revenue sharing plan passed by the legislature.

St. Louis was called "a frugal city" in the report. The report noted that St. Louis spent about five per cent less than cities of comparable size, but had one of the highest per capita tax collections among those cities.

It was pointed out that the tax burden is twice as heavy on the city as it is on residents of St. Louis County.

"What does this mean to St. Louis?" the report asked. "In the case of the city it has been shown that an unfavorable differential exists and the reasoning must follow that to continue to raise taxes and charges, unless they are raised in equal proportion in the county, will probably result in accelerated flow of businesses and individuals to the county."

The 40-page report suggested as alternatives an increased state income tax or the assumption of some of the fiscal responsibility by the state for health and hospitals.

$150 Burglary In Bell City

Vote Counting Error Gives Dowd New Hope

ST. LOUIS (AP) - Although Edward L. Dowd has conceded the race for Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, he apparently hasn't given up hope.

Dowd claimed Sunday that there was an 11,000-vote error in tabulations in Jackson County. He said his opponent, William Morris of Kansas City led by about 13,500 votes rather than 25,000 votes.

Dowd said the Missouri Secretary of State's office confirmed the 13,500 figure. Since there are still 40,000 absentee ballots still to be counted, Dowd says he still has an outside chance.

Frank E. Martin, chief of clerk Kansas City Board of Election Commissioners, said the error happened in the first two hours of tabulation election night.

"An operator punched 11,000 votes instead of 1,100," he said it was easily detected and immediately corrected.

Martin said the official canvass of votes started this morning and should be finished late Wednesday.

Three More Added To Plane Crash Toll

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) - Three more persons died Sunday, raising to 35 the number killed by the crash of a Piedmont Airlines plane.

Two survivors, Barbara Schiller, 19, and Thomas Voignier, 27, both of Cincinnati, remained in satisfactory condition at Charleston Memorial Hospital.

"I thought it was all a bad dream, just a bad dream," Miss Schiller said. "I wasn't even looking out the window when it happened. I blacked out and when I woke up they were throwing foam all over us."

Miss Schiller was en route to vacation at Virginia Beach with two of those who died Sunday, Judy Benhase, 20, and Sue Boskin, 19, both of Cincinnati.

Darrell Triplett, 20, of Branchland, W.Va., also died Sunday.

"They have not informed me of any concern or lack of concern," Christian replied. "They have given me the facts as they see them. They have sent the radiographs for comparison."

He said he had no idea when there would be a report on results of the comparison.

Dr. Cain has been treating Johnson regularly ever since the President, as Senate Democratic leader, suffered a heart attack in 1955. Cain was a member of the surgical team that operated on Johnson in Bethesda in 1955 and 1958 for removal of his gall bladder, then for removal of a nonmalignant throat polyp and repair of the gall bladder operation.

The President made the roundup trip between his ranch and the hospital by helicopter, a 35-minute flight each way.

To prepare for the new examination, Johnson has had to observe a liquid diet for 48 hours. He began it Saturday—before serving steak to two ranch visitors, Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland—the Republican ticket in the 1968 presidential campaign.

Johnson and other top officials briefed Nixon and Agnew on foreign policy matters.

Johnson attended Roman Catholic services Sunday at St. Bethesda, the White House Francis Xavier Church in conclusion: "Outside of this, Stonewall, a couple of miles there is nothing else to report," from the LBJ Ranch. POOR CHARLIE SAYS:
A LESSON FOR US

One of our Founding Fathers of our country warned a long time ago that internal weaknesses might present a greater threat to the perpetuation of our country than foreign military aggression.

We now have had a first-rate example of how internal weakness can wreck a nation. Within a space of 22 years following World War II, the British empire disintegrated. The obituaries of Britain's decline have been documented in the press. What Hitler and his mighty air armada were unable to accomplish - the extinction of Britain as a world power - is now a fact of history.

From all accounts, the demise of Britain is traceable largely to socialist leaders. The energy-sapping philosophy of the welfare state which they advocated apparently played an important part in the rapid decline of British fortunes.

U. S. citizens should take note that even the mightiest nation can be brought down by its own weaknesses - just as was predicted nearly two centuries ago.

The fellow who can't keep a stiff upper lip should never try to trim a mustache.

One way to prevent shirt collars from sailing is to wash the neck.

Even though you are not very athletic, we'll bet you've been able to put your foot in your mouth more than once.

U. S. ECONOMY IS COMMITTED TO PROFIT

America is committed to an economy based on the profit motive. The whole fabric of our society would be torn apart if this commitment were changed.

The American economic structure is composed of a multitude of separate but interacting business enterprises. It is the largest and most complicated structure ever assembled by man. Though extremely diverse with a myriad of products and services, there is an underlying objective common to all of them: They seek to make a profit.

A company expands with profits. Expansion makes more jobs and larger payrolls available. When a business does not operate at a profit, it has no money from within to invest in its growth, and it is almost impossible to attract outside investments.

All successful companies in keen competition must have a research program. As machinery becomes inadequate, it must be replaced. No modernization or research and development can take place without adequate profits.

Profits are required to pay taxes to keep our defense system operating and to pay salaries of government civil service employees. Profits finance scholarships for gifted students and donations to service and charity organizations.

It has been said that there are four forces that shape profit trends: impact of taxes, prices, cost variations, and sales volume.

In the interest of holding back another surge of inflation, business has kept the price of products at a steady level. The wholesale price trend is almost exactly flat and is not expected to change very much. The consumer price index has barely moved for several years.

There has been a continual increase in production costs, and it appears that this trend will continue. This has eaten into profits because there has been a lack of corresponding price increases.

The trend in sales has been upward, and the percentage increase in sales is reassuring; but there has also been an increase in the cost of selling.

High taxation is the greatest cause of decreased profits. With all the talk of the tax cut, many people forget there was a tax increase last year in Social Security payments by individuals, which were matched by business. This increase further reduced the margin of business profit, the the spending power of individuals. Social Security taxes went up January first, 1963, from $150 to a maximum of $174 per employee, and business must match each employee's contribution of $174 with another $174. The next Social Security tax boosts are scheduled in 1966 and 1968. If more Social Security benefits are added by Congress through the medicare proposal for instance, there will be a greater reduction in business profits.

There are many other taxes that depress profits. Last year more than $3.7 billion was paid by private business to finance government unemployment payments. Property taxes, a large portion of them paid by business, exceeded $20 billion in 1963.

Fed by the manna of taxes, bureaucracies tend to expand unchecked so that they finally consume the provider - the taxpayer.

While all the new programs are being launched, the old ones hang on tenaciously. The grow by entering new activities: The Farmers Home Administration has somehow involved itself in financing golf courses; the Rural Electrification Administration is busily helping its cooperatives serve cities and industries; the Small Business Administration tries and does lend to larger companies. The list of examples of tenacious and expanding bureaucratic agencies grows in direct proportion to the citizen's apathy: The less he cares, the more bureaucracy he will pay for.

We hear of executive consideration of a proposal to combat government spending. The idea is to set up a periodic review of federal programs. A commission, perhaps including nongovernment members, might ponder the directions taken by each program and worth of each program. This proposal could check such expanding agencies.

Let's take a look at the United States Treasury's balance sheet as the new year began.

During the first six months of the fiscal year which began July 1, 1963, the federal government took in $55 billion and spent $63 billion - $8 billion more than it received.

If every taxpayer had to pay his share of taxes to cover the public debt, he would shell out $5,159-$102 more than last year. As of the first of the year, the public debt was $309.5 billion.

Part of this debt has been caused by federal intervention in education, medical care and other welfare programs. If some have their way, these interventions will become greater and greater and take their place as "regular federal overhead expenses." What is traditionally forgotten by those who have no love for our profit system is that no society can enjoy these programs unless enough basic wealth is produced to pay for them.

Only as nations increase their wealth can they spend more and more on these needs. Trouble comes when the expected increases in real wealth begin to dry up. Difficulties are compounded by credit and statistical systems which make it harder to tell whether we are really getting richer or only think so. While figures like gross national product grow larger and larger, the real wealth can leak away.

The time comes for pinching, and people do not wish to pinch. The Welfare Staters come along and say: "It's all nonsense that you must economize. There is plenty of money. It is selfishness of the rich which keeps you from enjoying your rights. We will spend the money for what you need and deserve, and then take their surplus from them to pay for it."

This is poppycock, but it works for a time. It works, that is, if the government is allowed to inflate the money in some way so it looks as if there is enough money to pay for all the spending.

Personal enterprise and the profit motive have made our country the greatest of all nations. Constructives are believers in the sanctity of the individual and his inherent freedoms which government has no right either to grant or to take away; its only duty is to protect them. Constructives are therefore dedicated to constitutional restraints on government and their belief in thrifty handling of the people's money. Constructives want to leave the people and personal enterprise as free as possible to make their own way and to provide their own security under their own steam in a free market which they believe is the greatest guarantee of abundance.

Constructives respect the constitutional rights of the states as a curb on a powerful and oppressive central government.

In a nutshell, constructives stand for limited government with strict application of the American Constitution - the document which made the United States the richest and the freest nation on earth.

Subsurface diplomacy: Iban tribesmen of Borneo once had a custom of settling arguments that delegates to the United Nations might well employ. When two tribesmen disagreed violently, they dived together into the water. The one who stayed under the longer was declared winner of the dispute.

Worth remembering: "The trouble with most of us is that we would rather be ruined by praise than saved by criticism."

No magic cure: Science has yet to come up with a wonder drug that will quickly remove the agony of a hangover. "Sobering up is essentially a matter of time," says Leon A. Greenberg of the Rutgers University of Alcohol Studies. Neither coffee gulping or work does much, he says, to speed recovery from the results of excessive imbibing.

Prosperity note: Roughly 182,000 individuals are expected to file personal bankruptcy proceedings this year - chiefly because they didn't stick to a family budget, let small debts pile up. Today nine out of ten bankruptcy cases involve ordinary consumers, not businessmen who have failed.

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

DREW PEARSON SAYS: Trucking lobby's contributions cause near fight on House floor; Congressmen Dingell and Schwengel involved; sizzling remarks stricken from Congressional record.

WASHINGTON--Congress adjourned in such a hurry to attend the two political conventions that some very important by-play affecting the ethics of Congress escaped attention.

One was a near fist fight between two able congressmen, John Dingell, the Detroit Democrat, and Fred Schwengel, the Cornhusker Republican. It was over the $75,000 contributed by the trucking lobby to key members of Congress and Schwengel's request that Congress investigate the ethics of these contributions.

Dingell had received $1,500. After the trucking lobby had generously sprinkled money around, three bills were given favorable consideration:

1. A bill to double the weight of trucks on federal highways; 2. A bill to limit trucking by farm co-ops in favor of commercial truckers and 3. The highway bill which favored the billboard lobby, endangered parks and historic sites and trampled on the rights of local communities to locate highways where they wanted them.

Schwengel of Iowa considered all this to be something which bordered on unethical conduct, as outlined in the recent book, "The Case Against Congress," and he wrote the House committee on standards of official conduct about it. This enraged Dingell and at one point speaker McCormack ordered some of his sizzling language stricken from the Congressional record.

FISTS FLEW

What Dingell said was: "You're a liar and a coward. If I see you in the alley, I'll plant my fist where your glasses are." He shook his fist under Schwengel's nose.

"The clerk will cut that from the record," ordered McCormack, who had left the speaker's chair and was on the floor trying to restore order.

Later there was another flare-up in the speaker's lobby, as Dingell walked past Schwengel he exclaimed:

"What I said on the floor still goes, if you want to do anything about it. I'll be glad to repeat it here. That's what I think of you."

"Listen," shot back Schwengel, "I've never backed away from a fight in my life and I won't do so here. Also, I've never falsely accused anyone knowingly in my life. I can take care of myself."

Though 61, Schwengel is one of the most physically fit members of the house. He works out in the house gym, can do more than 50 pushups. Dingell, 42, is an outdoors man and a hunter.

Friends separated the two. Their altercation on the floor erupted during a speech by Schwengel urging House passage of the Senate-passed bill to reorganize Congress, improve ethical procedures and give the minority party a greater voice in legislation before committees. Previously he had lambasted the trucking lobby for its contributions to congressmen.

"Is the gentleman charging that any of his colleagues in this body engage in any practice that is not fully ethical?" Challenged Dingell. "You have made a lot of charges and I want an answer."

Schwengel: "No, not one."

Dingell: "If the rules permitted--and I am very sorry they do not--I might use some terms that would reflect rather differently the attitude I happen to feel toward you, and I do not use the term 'Gentleman,' but the member from Iowa."

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

At this point, Dingell's comments, which were expunged by speaker McCormack, took place. However, almost as soon as the atmosphere quieted down, it heated up again. Referring to the trucking lobby's campaign contributions, Schwengel declared:

"I have no proof that any one member was unduly influenced. I just know of a set of circumstances that look suspicious. I do not point a finger at any member of this body as having done anything wrong."

NOT TOO BRIGHT

DINGELL: "I am aware of the fact that the member from Iowa is not too bright, but I wonder if he is even aware of the fact that I am not a member of the committee that considered those matters."

Schwengel: "I am not accusing you or any member of the house."

Dingell: "All right, I want it to be very clear because you do have the protection against libel laws here on the floor of the Congress."

Schwengel: "I wrote a letter--"

Dingell: "I believe you have said quite enough."

Schwengel: "The letter is addressed to the chairman of the House committee on standards of official conduct. It reads, in part, 'this is not to imply that any member was actually unduly influenced by money given to his campaign fund by the American truckers association.' That ought to be clear enough."

At this point, Dingell made a point of order that a quorum was not present, in order to shut off Schwengel from further discussion. Then, at McCormack's suggestion, he withdrew the point of order. Both men left the floor, only to square off again in the speaker's lobby.

A vote just completed by the National Federation of Independent Business on proposed legislation, which would in affect permit SBA to make loans for equity capital, finds the nation's independent business proprietors quite divided in opinion.

The bill, by Rep. John G. Down, New York, would authorize the SBA to make loans up to 20 years instead of the present 10 year limit. Only 47 per cent are in favor, with 48 per cent opposed, and 5 per cent undecided.

In Missouri the vote is 48 per cent in favor, 47 per cent opposed, with 5 per cent undecided.

Undetermined is how strongly this vote was influenced by the public disclosures made by the new SBA Administrator on operations of the Small Business Investment Corporations and by currently increasing interest rates.

INCENTIVE REDUCTION GUARANTEED

The question continues to arise as to whether large numbers of the American people have come to accept communist doctrine under the guise of something else. An example is the idea, freely advanced by some social theorists, that an ideal society can be created by taking from those who have and giving to those who have not--as by the so-called guaranteed annual income.

When it is analyzed, this theory closely parallels the tenet of Marx and Lenin: from each according to his ability, to each according to his need.

A program based on this doctrine is certain to remove from our most capable people the incentive to produce. The purpose and process of the personal enterprise system of economics will be defeated, and that system replaced by some form of socialism. Nor will such a program create in less productive people any incentive to produce, so they will continue to be unproductive.

Human nature being what it is, people do not exert their best efforts when opportunity for achievement of a personal nature is not made available to them.

We have not yet reached the point in the United States where it is acceptable to be known as a communist. Our nation has not accepted as its own the methods, morality and deceptions of the communists. But there is an increasing--and alarming--number of ways in which American social theory has embraced communist doctrine, even though in disguised form. Freedomists must be concerned by this circumstance. HLH

HOODLUM HILL BUDDY Senate Ethics Committee Suppressed Evidence On Sen. Ed Long to Aid Him in Election Fight.

Washington, D.C.: -- There are election stories within election stories. This is a report on a specter stalking the U.S. Senate.

That elusive wraith is in the well - filled folios of the Senate select ethical practices committee, which gathered considerable evidence on the relationship of Missouri's Senator Ed Long, friend of many a hoodlum, and then buried its documentation so no news of it would leak out, no hearings would be held, and no word of interlocking relationships would affect the Missouri's chances for winning last Tuesday's primary.

Well, despite powerful and utterly expensive support by some of the toughest and most unsavory teamsters in the land, Ed Long lost.

But why did the men of national stature, whose names and influence lend prestige to the Select Committee on Standards and Conduct, grant political charity to Ed Long?

And is it not time to ask bluntly why Congress itself has not probed other members in both houses who have hoodlum connections in New York, New Jersey, and points south and west?

Why has the Senate ethics committee locked up its files? Although Mr. Long's defeat now perhaps makes the probe academic in the upper house, it is hardly academic in the upper house, it is hardly academic in the homes of this country.

On this ethics committee are Senators John Stennis, John Sherman Cooper, Gene McCarthy, Wallace Bennett, Mike Monroney, and James Pearson. They are all honorable men, as Bill Shakespeare once said.

Yet was it honorable for one or two of them to have sat both with the late Teamsters' bag carrier Sidney Zagri, and also on this ethics body?

It is not as much Ed Long's association and socializing with Jimmy Hoffa, tough Roy Williams, a Teamsters' Royal Trustee (intensely investigated by the Justice Dept.'s Organized Crime and Racketeering Section) and other teamsters, which is involved here.

What is of concern is his relationship with those who had influence - and used it heavily - in that huge apple barrel known as the Teamsters' Central States Southeast and Southwest Area Pension Fund.

From the Southern District of New York to the lush areas of California, U.S. Attorneys call this the "tainted" fund. How many millions have been drawn from it under the skilled fingering of influence peddlers and finders at corrupt fees?

It could run as high as $200 million, or as low as $125 million.

It has been reported that the Internal Revenue Service records

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

on Ed Long were thoroughly examined by the Ethics Committee.

Even what they found is not important. Obviously all was handled legally by Long, including the $150,000 he has received in "referral fees" from that one-man political machine, St. Louis criminal lawyer Morris Shenker, since 1961.

What is vital is that Shenker, once attorney for Jimmy Hoffa, also counseled such men as the cold - blooded Frank "Buster" Wortman of East St. Louis' Hoodlum Hill.

Mr. Shenker also has been advocate for ex-convict Lawrence Callanan, boss of a St. Louis union political fund which, he boasts, has disbursed some $18 million.

All this is Morris Shenker's privilege. He is a lawyer. To each his own. Let every man decide professionally the taste of the bread on which he lives.

But it is vital to know what services a U.S. Senator performed for counsellor Shenker. It is crucial that the U.S. Senate know this despite Ed Long's defeat, which came about despite his being portrayed as a crusader for the rights of the people by the "Labor's Educational and Political Club" of St. Louis and Kansas City.

Let no one think that Larry Callanan, leader of St. Louis' notorious Pipefitters Local 562 is a local personality. He's a national power although his criminal record runs through the St. Louis Police Dept., the Sheriff's office, the state police, the U.S. Marshall's office, the FBI, the Internal Revenue Service, etc., etc.

He's hardly ashamed of his friendship with Frank "Buster" Wortman who, the government has alleged, was once sent, fresh out of Alcatraz, by Al Capone to be the account executive for St. Louis and Southern Illinois.

Buster has a record which would make a George Raft movie character seem like an angelic missionary. Wortman has been questioned on everything from mayhem to murder. He's been in trucking, music machines, gambling, race-track wire services, and anything else you can make a buck on with muscle and terror. It was Wortman whose calloused hands pushed Callanan into power in Pipefitters Local 562.

And Wortman's friendship for Sam Giancana, his successor, and others in the Chicago mob that Al Capone built, didn't hurt Callanan.

Yet the friendship between Senator Ed Long and Larry Callanan still is strong. Yet the professional relationship between Ed Long and Morris Shenker, lawyer for Buster, is strong. Yet the social alliances between the Senator and the Teamsters' Hoffa bloc is strong.

The Senate Select Committee on Standards and Conduct knew all this and suppressed it. The press did not. Crusading magazines did not. Why did the ethics committee stuff the specter into its locked files?

I-SC Wins Tourney

Rain halted Saturday night's schedule of the 13th annual Little League baseball tournament at Farris field but the teams got together yesterday afternoon to decide the outcome. What started out with 14 teams dwindled to four.

Ilmo - Scott City copped the tournament title by defeating its second Sikeston entry into the tournament, the National League Aces, 5 to 3 after taking care of the National's All-Stars earlier last week.

Cairo shut out Morley 9-0 behind the no hit pitching of Bruce Brinkmeyer, who was selected one of the two outstanding players of the tournament. The other was the Aces' Jim Sauters, the athlete who rapped two home runs in one inning during a semifinal game with Cairo.

Dexter was presented the Sportsmanship award.

Receiving honorable mention as outstanding players were Fince Schaefer of Ilmo-Scott City; Danny Freeman of Morley; Kenny Stokes of the National League All-Stars and Rick Dyer and Terry Winchester of the National League Aces.

Birds Duel Cubs; Braves Take One

CHICAGO (AP) — Larry Jaster got back in the pitching rotation today for the St. Louis Cardinals after missing a turn because of his recent mediocre performances.

Jaster (8-7) pitched against the second-place Chicago Cubs' Bill Hands (13-6). That's right, the second-place Cubs. And the Cubs almost have to take three of the four games with the Cardinals if they are going to make any bid to overhaul the National League leaders. Chicago trails the Redbirds by 14 games.

The Atlanta Braves tried it and couldn't do it. The Braves did beat the Cardinals 5-3 Sunday, but it was the only game of the three-game series they took.

Pat Jarvis (11-9) went most of the way for the Braves. He was relieved in the ninth inning when the Cardinals scored their last run of the game.

The Cardinals had taken a quick lead on Mike Shannon's 14th homer of the season, a solo shot in the second inning. But Jarvis held on and the Braves put him ahead with five runs in the fourth inning.

Bob Tillman, who was placed in the lineup for ailing catcher Joe Torre started loser Steve Carlton's downfall with a oneout single. After a walk and an out,

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas City will take on the tough St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League here Saturday night without Curtis McClinton, one of the best all-around fullbacks in pro ball.

The 6-foot-3, 232-pound former Kansas star fractured a cheek bone in Kansas City's 13-10 victory over the NFL Minnesota Vikings Saturday night, before 46,728 at Minneapolis.

McClinton is an outstanding blocker, runner and pass receiver. He will miss the last three exhibition games with St. Louis, Oakland and Los Angeles.

Wendell Hayes, obtained from Denver in a winter trade, is an excellent runner but McClinton's blocking and pass receiving will be missed.

Each Hank Stram is determined to keep his squad from reaching an emotional peak for any game. He calls the St. Louis game "just another game."

But he admits the old relaxed exhibition game is no more.

It's bound to be something more than that to the fans. A sellout of 49,002 is likely. The Cards looked good in a 24-7 victory over Pittsburgh. They are anxious to prove last year's squad dissension is a thing of the past. And NFL-AFL rivalry is still a factor.

Stram was kidded by quarterback Len Dawson after the bruising Minnesota game.

The other Chief regulars also played most of the way. Mike Garrett carried 26 times for 90 yards. Jan Stenerud kicked a 15-yard field goal to win it with 47 seconds left and a 29-yarder for a 10-10 tie. Dawson hit 12 of 21 passes for 152 yards, including a 40-yard play-action TD to Frank Pitts for a 7-7 tie in the third period. The Vikings led 7-0 at the half.

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP) — Ron Holmberg of Highland Falls, N.Y., played some of the best tennis in his long career Sunday to defeat Gene Scott of St. James, N.Y., 6-4, 1-6, 6-3, 12-11 to win the 79th Meadow Club Invitational Grass Court Tournament.

Sikeston's Musical league All-Stars compete tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Charleston second annual invitational tournament for 9 and 10 year olds.

Their opponent will be Benton.

Deer Hunters will need advance reservations to participate in any of four special deer hunts in Missouri this fall.

Limited numbers of hunters will be permitted on the four special hunt areas, Deer Run State Forest in Reynolds County, Indian Trail State Forest in Dent County, Peck Ranch Wildlife Area in Carter County, and Drury Refuge in Taney County. Only parts of the Deer Run and Peck Ranch areas will be open.

The maximum numbers of hunters to be permitted on the areas are 150 at Deer Run, 75 at Drury, 150 at Indian Trail, and 300 at Peck Ranch.

The hunts will be Nov. 16 and 17, the first two days of the 1968 firearms deer season. No other firearms deer hunting will be permitted in those areas this year. The Mincy Wildlife Area in Taney County has been closed to firearms deer hunting this year.

Applications for permits to hunt the four special areas will not be accepted before Sept. 1 or after Oct. 14. Successful applicants will be determined by a drawing Oct. 15.

Applications must be on post cards, and only one application for each person or party will be allowed. Duplicate applications will disqualify all applications by that individual or party. Application cards must show the name and address, including zip code, of each person.

Because no duplicate applications will be allowed, the card should also indicate first and second choices of areas.

Hunters who wish to hunt the same area as a group may file an application card containing not more than six names and addresses. Such applications will be handled on an or none basis. Reservations will not be transferable, and only the hunter whose name appears on the reservation list will be admitted.

Reservation cards will be issued to hunters successful in the drawing, and unsuccessful applicants will be notified. Deer Run and Indian Trail Areas may be scouted by hunters before the special season opens, but advance scouting of Drury or Peck Ranch will not be permitted. Camping will be permitted near the areas, and hunters must check in and out each day. Maps will be available at the areas at the time of check-in.

Similar hunts were held on three of these areas last year. At Peck Ranch, 261 hunters took 86 deer; at Indian Trail, 113 hunters took 18 deer; and at Deer Run, 95 hunters took 11 deer. Drury Refuge was not open last year.

Wellington, Kan., will meet Sedalia, Mo., tonight in the finals of the Midwest Regional Babe Ruth Baseball Tournament, which was moved to Ashland Sunday because of rain at Wellington.

By beating Sedalia 3-2 in the winners' bracket Sunday, Wellington remained the only undefeated team, and a victory tonight will wrap up the title. If Sedalia wins tonight, a second game will be required.

In other Sunday games, Indianola, Iowa, eliminated Tri-County of Kansas 5-4, and Sedalia knocked out Indianola 7-4. Sedalia beat Sikeston for the Missouri State title.

AP - Joplin will meet Thoman-Boothe of St. Louis in a best-of-three series at Jefferson City this weekend for the Missouri American League baseball championship.

Joplin won the Western zone title in Trenton Sunday by edging Springfield 7-6 after Springfield defeated Independence 2-1 earlier in the day.

Thoman-Boothe took the Eastern zone crown at St. Ann with a 7-6 victory over Gardenville-Afton.

MSHSAA FOOTBALL

Football rules interpretation meetings sponsored by the Missouri State High School Activities Association will get under way Friday August 23. The meetings, conducted by outstanding high school football officials, will be held at 22 sites throughout the state for the purpose of informing officials and coaches of new rules changes and interpretations. The program of rules meetings is one phase of a comprehensive program of the MSHSAA to improve officiating and thereby enhance the value of athletics to high school youth.

Preceding the series of meetings for officials, on all-day session for interpreters will be held Saturday, August 17, at the MSHSAA Office. Jack W. Miles, Assistant Executive Secretary of the MSHSAA who is in charge of the Association's program for officials, will present the rules changes and interpretations that are to be presented at the meetings for officials.

All football officials are required to attend one of the meetings in their area as one of the requirements for renewing registration in 1969. High School head football coaches are also required to attend one of the meetings as a means of acquiring a better understanding of the interpretations that will be followed by officials this year. Players, timekeepers, p.a. announcers, sports writers and sports casters are also invited to attend.

The schedule for the meetings to be held in our area is as follows:

Cape Girardeau: SEMSC Gym, September 4, 7:30, Ben Bidewell.

Dexter High School, August 29, 7:30 Ben Bidewell

All meetings are scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

THEIR TRIUMPHS and THEIR TRAGEDIES

The triumphs and tragedies of the Kennedys during their progress from famine-stricken Ireland to seats of power in Wall Street and Washington has been one of the most amazing family epics of this era.

Now for the first time it has all been put together in one handsome hardback, lavishly illustrated book. It was produced by outstanding writers, editors and photographers of the world's largest news gathering organization—The Associated Press. This organization, of which your newspaper is a member, is the same one that turned out the classic account of the assassination of President Kennedy—The Torch Is Passed—which sold nearly 4 million copies.

Research Done on Own Pride of Nine Lions

By C.C. MINICLIER
Associated Press Writer

MUGWONGO, Kenya (AP) — The first thing George Adamson does each morning upon emerging from his split bamboo and thatched hut is to rescue a brace of frogs from an old helmet which serves as a bird bath at his camp.

Then, about sunrise, he begins another long day of listening to, looking at and listing in his diary the activities of his pride of nine lions.

The frogs, along with a multitude of lizards and birds, have found refuge and food beneath the shade of a giant acacia tree under which Adamson set up his camp three years ago.

Two of the lions, rescued from pending imprisonment in a zoo after filming the story of "Elsa," came with Adamson to Mugwongo. A third later joined them after making an 11-hour trip from the Nairobi Game Park Orphanage with Adamson in his Land-rover.

Four cubs were later given him and bottle fed by Adamson before they learned how to kill game.

In keeping with his original goal of turning the pride back to nature, Adamson avoided giving much protection to the first cubs born at Mugwongo. The first disappeared, perhaps into the stomach of a leopard, the second was killed by a lion from another pride.

Two cubs born 13 months ago were never touched by Adamson. "We didn't try to tame them at all. Now you can come quite close but they won't allow themselves to be handled, which is of course what we wanted," Adamson said.

Before the year is out, as three young lionesses become of age, Adamson hopes to have more cubs added to the pride, and a chance to broaden his study of lion in the wilderness.

GEORGE ADAMSON, leader of a pride of lions in his remote camp in Meru National Park, Kenya, and "Boy," whom Adamson rescued from going to a zoo after the filming of "Elsa."

But Adamson, who gained fame in East Africa for his hunting expertise, and trail blazing in the unknown Northern Frontier District of the 1930s, wants some professional scientific help to catalog the life of his lions.

He feels the pride offers a unique opportunity for research into lion life.

Francis Minot, Kenya representative of the African Wildlife Leadership Foundation, headquartered in Washington, said he feels Mugwongo offers a scientist "a unique opportunity to study the surrounding flora and fauna," making full use of Adamson's experiences.

With Adamson's patient coaching the lions have learned to be self-reliant. He recently filmed five of them stalking and killing a buffalo.

While otherwise wild the pride accepts Adamson as part of the group, permitting him to cut off part of one of their kills to save for a missing member of the group. The older lions from the film still permit him to approach them, scratch an occasional chin or kick them out of bed if they succeed in penetrating the wire mesh fence around his encampment.

The old fence, torn by a bull elephant intent on eating the shrubbery off it, was recently replaced by a higher fence.

The lioness, "Elsa" of "Born Free," written by George's wife, Joy, was born and died within 20 miles of his camp. Joy Adamson maintains her own camp within the same radius.

"The Elsa Foundation," founded by Joy from the proceeds of her books and the movie, helped finance conservation measures in the area, which recently became Meru National Park.

"My own ambition now is to do all I can to help wild animals. I'd like to set up a foundation to further lion research," Adamson said.

Adamson, in his 60s, has a first, and according to him probably his last, book. It tells of his experiences as a bartender, milk vendor, gold prospector, sisal plantation hand, locust control officer, game warden, advisor to film makers ("Elsa") and of his efforts to return lions to nature.

Entitled "Bwana Game," as he was known by many Africans during his 23 years as a game warden, the book, which came out a few weeks ago, was sold out of at least one local book store and has prompted letters from Australia and Britain.

John Baxendale, whose father crossed Lake Rudolph with Adamson in 1934 during their search for gold and the fabled "Queen of Sheba Mines," joined Adamson's camp in February and helps him keep daily track of the pride.

With proceeds from the book and a possible movie based on it, together with revenue from a recently finished television documentary about the pride of Mugwongo, entitled "The Lions Are Free," Adamson hopes to set up his foundation to continue lion research.

He and Baxendale keep a daily written and photographic record of the pride, going out in their Land-rover to follow the spoor (lions' tracks) walking in the dirt tracks and roadways and see what has happened overnight.

Recently they photographed a lion actually battling a hungry, surprised vulture out of the air after it attempted to partake of a recent kill uninvited.

The biggest problem in returning lions to nature is not in teaching them to kill but to establish an area for the pride, Adamson says.

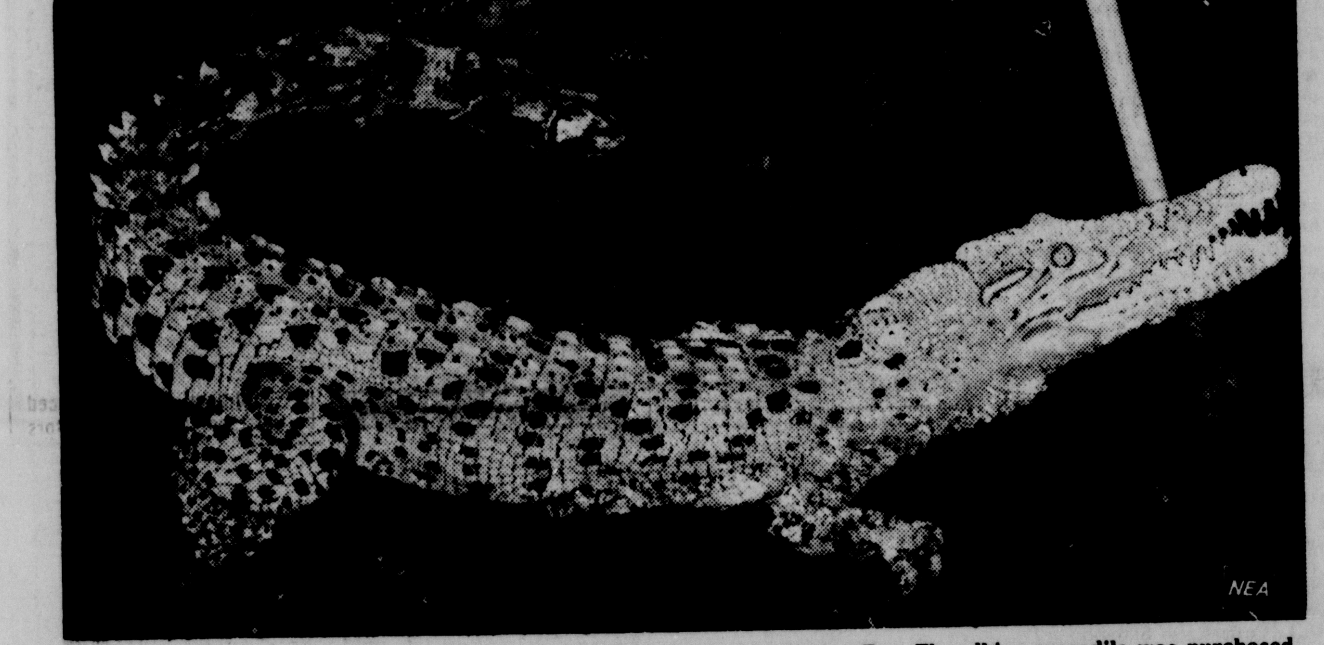

The pride's domain is about 25 square miles, centered on the bamboo and thatched huts of Mugwongo, named after an adjoining rocky hill.

LAST MINUTE CHANGE is made by ballerina Vera Zorina (in slacks) who directed the Santa Fe Opera Company's production of "Madame Butterfly." The 280-member company opened its 1968 season in a new $1.7 million theater nestled high in New Mexico's hills.

SIMPLE WEDDING might call for this peasant-style wedding dress worn by Tamara Vladimirovna, the first Russian model to appear on the Paris fashion scene. The white organdy gown is from the collection of designer Louis Feraud.

RARE CREATURE brought a fancy price from the Stuttgart (Germany) Zoo. The albino crocodile was purchased from a Dutch trader for $2,500. It is believed to be five years old.

How to send a boy to jail without really trying.

Anybody can do it. No experience necessary.

All you have to do is leave the keys in your car. Statistics tell us most cars are stolen by kids under 18. And about half the stolen cars had keys left in them.

Don't tell us you're too smart for car thieves—that you take your keys out of the ignition and leave them under the floor mat. Or in the windshield visor.

They're too smart for you. They find them... and are involved in 200 times as many accidents as ordinary drivers.

Take your keys with you.

That way, nobody goes to jail.

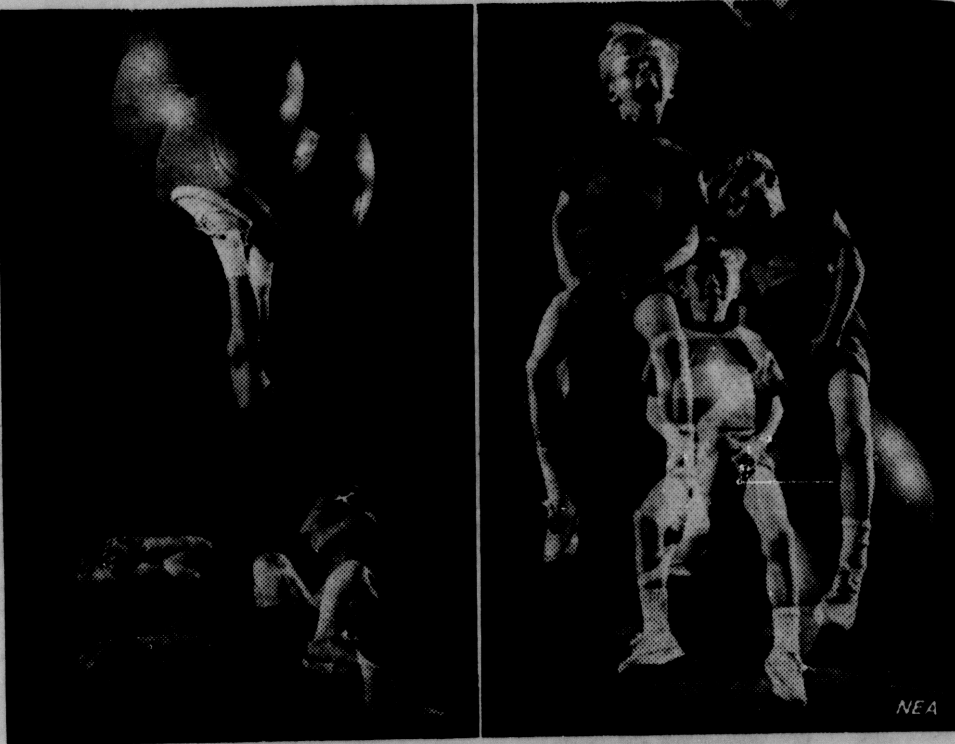

Don't help a boy go wrong. When you leave your car, take your keys.

Highlights and Sidelights from Our State Capitol

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT BEGINS BILLION DOLLAR FIVE-YEAR PLAN.
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. -- Missouri plans to spend almost a billion dollars in the next five years on highway right of ways and construction, according to a statement by chief engineer M. J. Snider of the State Highway Commission.

One of the first projects of the five year plan, which started July 1, is resumption of work on improving U.S. 71 from south of Harrisonville to the Arkansas state line. Work had stopped with the passage of the Missouri toll road law that would have provided a toll road in that area. In July, however, the Missouri Supreme Court ruled the law unconstitutional on grounds that highway user funds could not be used for anything except construction and maintenance of free roads.

Other construction plans in the five year program cover the entire state and include all types of highways. Of the $1 billion, about $838,420,000 is earmarked for the interstate, primary and supplementary systems. Urban areas (areas with 5,000 or more population) will account for $157,514,000. The breakdown for the urban total is: $48,941,000 for the Kansas City area; $72,955,000 for the St. Louis area; and $35,618,000 for other urban areas.

Plans for the U.S. 71 project call for freeway standards with dual, divided lanes and limited access. Snider said work would be pushed on projects for which plans are nearer completion, such as the Butler and Nevada bypasses.

"Then we plan to concentrate on filling the gaps, working from the north to provide long stretches of completed roadway as soon as possible," Snider said.

LAKE AREA TO GET SPECIAL BOOST IN NEXT MONTH

Missouri's wonderful recreation areas around the Lake of the Ozarks is going to be the subject of dozens of articles in sports and boating magazines, newspapers and trade journals, within the next few weeks, following a visit to the area by 75 of the nation's top sports and boating writers.

The group was invited to enjoy two days at the Lodge of the Four Seasons on the lake to preview the 1969 models of boats and motors produced by Chrysler Corporation. As part of the special showing, the writers test drove all the new boats, affording them a chance to view the lake and its many developments.

The writers were impressed with the new boats and motors, and doubly impressed with the beauty of the Missouri lake. It was the first visit for many, and most of all they said they'd want to return with their families for personal vacations. "It's truly a lovely place," commented E. T. Bales, veteran sports editor of the Chattanooga News-Free Press, "but there is one problem - accessibility. It took a combination of jets, drop planes and chartered busses to get us down here. There doesn't seem to be an easy way to do it."

The accessibility problem will not last much longer, though, according to Howard Maguire, engineer for the aviation department of the Division of Commerce and Industrial Development. An airport with facilities to accommodate all classes of aircraft, including DC-9s has been blueprinted and should be built within the next two years, depending on approval of federal funds which will aid in the construction. Also, highway work is now eliminating objectionable growth, under way near the Bagnell Dam but to keep the vegetation at a area to provide divided highway desirable height without as much traveling from Jefferson City to mowing.

In addition, the department has experimented with the sports writers, plus the honeysuckle and Crown Vetch, advertising campaign now both vine-like plants which do under way by the Missouri not require mowing, and plans Tourism Commission, will fast to plant them wherever possible spread the word on how to cut down on the annual job. favorable Missouri is as a Now, maybe your three vacation spot and should hours a week on the old increase the tourism dollars now homestead doesn't seem so bad already entering the state at an after all...

Ann Landers

There Comes Time When Daughter Must Break Ties

Dear Ann Landers: "Picked On Teen" needs more advice than you gave her. Perhaps I can succeed where you failed. I had a mother like hers and she nearly wrecked my life. I'd like to tell that girl what a kindly clergyman told me.

Dear Picked On: No one can give anyone else a nervous breakdown. If a person has a nervous breakdown it is because he or she cannot stand the strain and stress of life.

My mother always used her nerves as a club to keep everyone in line. If she didn't get her way she would yell at my father, "You're going to give me a nervous breakdown." It always worked. When I got older she used the same technique on me. I was so afraid I'd be responsible for sending my mother to a mental institution that I obeyed her every command and broke my neck to satisfy her slightest whim.

When I was 23 I began to date a medical student. He was the kindest and most intelligent man I had ever known. We fell deeply in love. Mother hated him because he was short and his family was poor and undistinguished. When I told her we were going to be married she said, "If you marry that runt I'll have a nervous breakdown." I became so confused and unsure of myself I developed terrible headaches and couldn't go to work.

My doctor urged me to talk to my clergyman. My clergyman advised me to tell my mother that if my marriage was going to cause her to have a nervous breakdown I was sorry but I was going ahead with the marriage.

That was 10 years ago. Mother has been surprisingly easy to live with since I called her bluff. She now enjoys her four grandchildren and has never mentioned a nervous breakdown since. -- RUG PULLED

Dear Rug: Thanks for your fine letter. You certainly gave me help. I did, and I thank you.

Dear Ann Landers: I confess I used to read your column for kicks but now I am hooked by your good advice. You let me down badly the other day when you gave a flip reply to the woman who wanted to know if she should spend $100 on a suit to bury her uncle. The woman said he was an atheist and she was afraid she'd get a lot of criticism from her religious relatives. You replied, "Don't spend $100 on a burial suit for an atheist. He'd be all dressed up with no place to go."

How do you know where he is going? Have you ever known anyone who came back with a report? Some very outstanding people in this world are atheists or agnostics. In my opinion you owe them all an apology. -- VALLEJO READER

Dear Reader: I'm sorry if you thought I was flip, but humor can be a useful device and I sometimes use it when I feel it would be pointless to engage in serious debate.

If You Were the Judge

Will Must Do More Than Disinherit

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Max didn't believe in relativity, particularly when it came to his brother Ival who had been his constant rival in life. The only thing they ever agreed upon was that they didn't like each other. Consequently, when Max suddenly realized his days were numbered, he hurriedly wrote out a strong note that read: "I don't want any good-for-nothing brother to inherit any of my property."

Nevertheless, when Max subsequently died, Ival was Johnny-on-the-spot to claim his share of Max's estate as Max's brother.

"He's not entitled to it," argued several other hopeful relatives in court. "Max's will specifically disinherited him."

"That was no will, that was a don't," was Ival's answer. "A person can't disinherit a brother by just writing a note saying don't give my brother any of my estate."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit Ival to receive his share of the estate of his brother Max?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that to be considered a will, a paper or document must direct some affirmative action with regard to his estate. It cannot merely disinherit someone.

New higher interest rates on Savings Bonds and Freedom Shares

Now U.S. Savings Bonds pay 4 1/4 %, new Freedom Shares pay 5%.

Today, Savings Bonds are a better investment than ever. Now they pay 4 1/4 % when held to maturity. And new Freedom Shares pay a full 5% when held to maturity.

Freedom Shares are still sold on a one-for-one basis with Series E Bonds, but now you can buy the combination any time at your bank—and not just on a regular monthly plan as before.

The higher interest rate on Savings Bonds applies not only to the new ones you buy, but to your older ones too for their remaining period to maturity—generally effective with the first full six-months interest period beginning on or after June 1. (Outstanding Freedom Shares are not affected).

Buy Bonds and new Freedom Shares—help yourself even more as you're helping your country.

Aldermen Discuss Sewage Improvements

NEW MADRID - Plans for the improving of the city's sewer system and the construction of a lagoon-type disposal system were among items discussed at the meeting Monday night of the New Madrid board of aldermen, according to Mrs. Pauline K. Allen, city clerk.

William G. Riddle of the engineering firm of William G. Riddle & Associates, told the board that plans for the sewer and lagoon system were on file with the Missouri water pollution board and that when approved the city could start the project.

Placing of a lagoon disposal system is necessary because of the government's urging of the city to stop dumping of raw sewage into the Mississippi and has been in the planning stage several years. It is expected that construction work can be started some time late this year.

A contract with Southwestern Power Association in which Municipal Light & Power was to start receiving electric energy from them September 1, was extended until December 1 at the request of the agency.

A member of the New Madrid Ministerial Alliance attended the meeting in order to acquaint himself with actions of the board and operation and ordinances of the city.

Purchase of a new police department Ford automobile from Blades Motor Sales at a price of $1200.00 and trade was approved after hearing bids of the several other automotive agencies in New Madrid.

Mayor Robert Riley appointed a committee of Harold Sloas, L. H. Rocker and F. M. Baird to review the several copies of the city had report their findings and recommendations to the board.

The mayor was authorized to execute a deed to New Madrid County for the land used in establishing the New Madrid County Airport for $3450.00.

Reports of all officials were read and approved and all current bills of the city were ordered paid.

Drivers of buses, subway and elevated trains have threatened to strike the Chicago Transit Authority the day before the convention opens in a dispute with their parent union.

Amphitheatre Beginning to Look Like Fort

CHICAGO (AP) -- The International Amphitheatre looked increasingly like a fortified compound today as preparations continued for the Democratic National Convention.

Work has been completed on a half-mile fence topped with barbed wire to screen the convention site.

John B. Criswell, convention executive director, said "plans are going along on schedule."

Robert R. Burke, 34, a Secret Service agent, is coordinating all security measures for the convention, which opens Aug. 26.

Convention officials, delegates and others will have to show their credentials at a half-dozen checkpoints before entering the amphitheatre on Chicago's South Side.

About 5,500 Illinois National Guard troops will be stationed in Chicago during the convention.

Brig. Gen. Richard T. Dunn, commander of emergency operations for the Illinois guard, said, "one battalion—about 800 men, including three rifle companies—will be on regular training assembly duties each convention night at a Chicago armory."

Communications for the convention remained a problem. Striking electrical workers have agreed only to install communications equipment in the amphitheatre. Chicago hotels used by convention delegates will have to use their normal telephone systems.

Two threatened strikes also hang over convention planning. Cab drivers have threatened to strike Aug. 16 against the city's two largest cab companies, Yellow Cab and Checker Cab, unless the companies agree to install bulletproof partitions between the driver and passenger

By The Associated Press

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, expressing confidence he'll win the Democratic presidential nomination on the first convention ballot, has pegged his delegate strength at 1,600 votes.

And Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox says he may turn the Democratic race into a four-way battle to show Americans the party "offers more than liberals and socialists."

The Democratic nomination in Chicago in two weeks will require 1,312 votes and Humphrey was asked Sunday if his estimate of delegate strength means he thinks he has the first-ballot nomination sewed up.

"Let me tell you I feel rather relaxed," Humphrey replied. "I

Nixon's Views Blasted in Hanoi

PARIS (AP) - A North Vietnamese spokesman today blasted both the Republican and Democratic parties of the United States, but saved a special attack for the Republican presidential candidate, Richard M. Nixon.

The way was left open for more specific criticism of the Democratic candidate after that party's convention later this month.

Nguyen Thanh Le, spokesman for the North Vietnamese delegation at the Paris peace talks with the United States, went into American politics at a news conference.

He said that the Republican platform and Nixon's personal stand could not possibly lead to an end to the Vietnamese war. He asserted he did not want to interfere with the internal affairs of the United States, but thought it was pertinent to give his views on Republican statements concerning Vietnam.

He added that he was not referring to any policies of Nixon other than those concerning Vietnam.

Le referred to the platform plan on Vietnam adopted by the Republicans at Miami Beach and said "this program does not

Maddox May Seek Demo Nomination

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) - Gov. Lester Maddox formally announced today that he is "giving serious consideration to announcing my candidacy to seek the nomination" for president.

Maddox made the announcement at a news conference which he called while in Savannah to address a convention of the Georgia Municipal Association.

The governor said at this time the chances are greater that he will seek the nomination than that he will not. He said he would make a firm decision no later than Saturday.

He said he has been in touch with conservative leaders in various parts of the country, and that they agree with him the present candidates for the Democratic nomination represent exclusively the liberal wing of the party.

In response to questions about third-party candidate George Wallace, of whom Maddox has been an outspoken admirer, the governor said, "I don't think that I'll ever be in a position of running against Gov. Wallace."

Maddox declined to elaborate on the meaning of his statement, but the clear indication was that Wallace would withdraw if Maddox was successful in a bid for the Democratic nomination.

"I'm not going to tell you that," Maddox said when asked if that were the case. "Then, you would know it all."

Maddox did say, however, that he has discussed the possibility of seeking the nomination with Wallace.

Earlier in Atlanta, the 52-year-old former restaurant owner who was elected governor by the Georgia Legislature, said his candidacy would offer voters a choice between one conservative and three socialists.

"I have no intention of running as a favorite son," he added.

Maddox said Sunday he had not discussed the idea with national or state Democratic party officials, and had no idea what their reaction would be.

After losing several elections including two for mayor, and 1962 race for lieutenant governor, Maddox defeated former Gov. Ellis G. Arnall for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1966.

He was elected governor in January 1967 by the Georgia General Assembly after neither he nor Republican Howard "Bo" Callaway received a majority of general election votes. Callaway outpolled Maddox by 3,039 votes.

Before his election, Maddox, 52, became known as the Atlanta restaurant owner who closed rather than comply with the 1964 Civil Rights Act to serve Negroes.

Maddox said the Democratic party nominees, including South Dakota Sen. George S. McGovern who announced Saturday, offer no choice.

Ike Passes First Critical Period

WASHINGTON (AP) - Army doctors reported today that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has now successfully passed the "immediate critical period" following last week's major heart attack, and is making satisfactory progress.

But "even barring unforeseen occurrences, the convalescence is apt to be prolonged because of the general's recent previous attacks," doctors at Walter Reed Army Hospital said in reply to questions.

They declined to say how long he might remain in the hospital. He was transferred there from California May 14 after a heart attack, and has suffered two more since he was hospitalized.

The first week after an attack is considered the critical period.

His schedule included three tentative television taping or live sessions today and another Tuesday.

McGovern, a 46-year-old former college professor with a record of winning uphill fights, invoked the name of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy numerous times when he formally announced Saturday.

He launched his candidacy in the Caucus Room of the old Senate Office Building where both Robert and John Kennedy launched theirs.

McGovern said he would campaign on a Kennedy-style get-out-of-Vietnam plank.

"I believe deeply in the twin goals for which Robert Kennedy gave his life," he said, "an end to the war in Vietnam and a passionate commitment to heal

McGovern Gains Few Delegates in First 2 Days

WASHINGTON (AP) - Net gain for Sen. George S. McGovern after two days in the Democratic presidential race appears to be endorsement by several former Kennedy aides, approving nods from some former Kennedy supporters and two delegate votes.

But, the South Dakotan said Sunday, he has at least a "fighting chance" to beat out the other two announced candidates, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

McGovern commented on a radio-television program 24 hours after he entered the race. He intends to use the medium as the chief vehicle for his 11th hour drive before the Democratic National Convention opening in Chicago two weeks from today.

Autopsies Performed on Mystery Poison Victims

FORT MYERS, FLA. - Five men unloading a cargo of fish were fatally stricken Sunday and one-by-one toppled into the hold of the fishing trawler Novelty.

The nature of the poison in the hold remained a mystery, and autopsies were performed today on the victims. Toxic samples taken from the ship's hold were analyzed.

Lee County sheriff's investigator James Loeffler said, "We don't know what killed them or where it came from. They either got a whiff of a toxic gas or some sort of chemical poison."

Back from a successful trip, the crew of the 125-foot trawler Novelty and dockworkers were preparing to flood the ship's hold to enable huge pumps to pull out both water and fish.

"When the water was turned on," Loeffler said, "the men holding the hose immediately collapsed and fell into the hold."

The first man to react, Francis L. Winter, 53, of Punta Gorda, Fla., jumped through the hatch and reached the body when he, too, keeled over.

As he slumped into the hold, his brother, Joseph, 55, also of Punta Gorda, raced to the hatchway. He got his feet on the ladder and his hand on the rail when the poison hit him and he fell the rest of the way, Loeffler said.

"The other two men never left the deck," the investigator said. "They just looked into the hold and collapsed through the hatch."

He said a sixth man was felled by the incredibly fast-acting poison, but was rescued by the ship's one-armed cook, Clyde Parrish, and dock worker Roy McNeely.

"All of this transpired in less than two minutes," Loeffler said. McNeely descended with a rope while holding his breath and raised the last man to be felled.

"Parrish is the hero if there is one," Loeffler said. Without knowing what had stricken his shipmates and the dock workers, he administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

Loeffler said Lawrence Finley, 33, of North Port Charlotte, began to breathe without aid and was rushed to a nearby hospital where he was reported unconscious and in critical condition.

Meanwhile, William Conrad of the Fort Myers fire department rescue team, went into the smelly hold with ropes and brought up the body of Kenneth Smith, 55, manager of the fish processing plant where the ship was docked.

Conrad, who had no mask, held his breath while working in the hold.

The fireman repeated his rescue attempt when he saw the body of Stephen Richmond, 18-year-old second engineer on the boat.

The other bodies were brought up by firemen after gas masks arrived at the wharf. Besides the Winter brothers there was Francis Webb, 23, of Peace Dale, R.I., the boat's pilot.

Loeffler said the poison and its source remained unknown.

"It's unfathomable," he said. "We don't even know if it was gas or liquid. We don't know if it came out of the tank holding the wash water or what."

The deputy said the U.S. Department of Labor ordered the fishery, the Protein Products Co., sealed off and the U.S. Bureau of Fisheries began an investigation.

Vote Counting Error Gives Dowd New Hope

ST. LOUIS (AP) - Although Edward L. Dowd has conceded the race for Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, he apparently hasn't given up hope.

Dowd claimed Sunday that there was an 11,000-vote error in tabulations in Jackson County. He said his opponent, William Morris of Kansas City led by about 13,500 votes rather than 25,000 votes.

Dowd said the Missouri Secretary of State's office confirmed the 13,500 figure. Since there are still 40,000 absentee ballots still to be counted, Dowd says he still has an outside chance.

Frank E. Martin, chief of clerk Kansas City Board of Election Commissioners, said the error happened in the first two hours of tabulation election night.

"An operator punched 11,000 votes instead of 1,100." He said it was easily detected and immediately corrected.

Martin said the official canvass of votes started this morning and should be finished late Wednesday.

McGovern and will do the same for McGovern.

McGovern said he had talked to other top Kennedy aides and had been given "a very green light from all of them."

But both Humphrey and McCarthy indicated they expect McGovern to have little impact on their campaigns.

"I really don't think it will have appreciable effect," said Humphrey who also claimed 1,600 delegate votes, more than the 1,312 needed for nomination.

McCarthy, echoing the same sentiment, said that if anything it will make it easier for Kennedy delegates to "come to me."

McGovern, before he announced, had 26 delegates committed to him. They represent the South Dakota

Denied Pony, Boy, 13, Hangs Self

EAST PRAIRIE-Despondent because his parents refused to buy him a pony, Tony Elbert Woods, 13, hanged himself in the hay loft of the barn on the farm of his father, Alfred Woods, five miles south of East Prairie at 11:45 a.m. Saturday.

Coroner Elgin McKickle, reported that the boy became despondent following an argument with his parents over the pony.

The parents then left the home Saturday morning to go to East Fraire. After they left, the Coroner said, the boy ran to the barn, climbed a small ladder to the loft, placed a saddle over the trap door of the loft, to keep anyone from entering.

He threw a thin cord over the rafters 20 feet above the floor, McKickle said, and tied one end around his neck, with his feet still on the loft floor.

He pulled the other end of the rope. Death was caused by strangulation.

A brother, Gary, and sister, Mary Sue, ran to the barn after finding their brother had left the house. They reached him within 15 minutes but he died before they released the tight cord.

There will be no inquest, according to the coroner.

The boy was born at Kennett April 23, 1955.

Surviving are his parents, three sisters, Mrs. Bobby Rouse, Kennett; Mrs. Jennie Martin, Detroit; and Miss Mary Sue Woods, seven brothers, Jackie, Indo, Calif.; Alfred and Larry, both of Detroit; Billy, Robert and Hulon, all of Hickman, Ky., and Gary Woods; his paternal grandfather, Albert Woods, Guy, Ark., and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Rhene Henderson, Little Rock.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Shelby Funeral Home with the Rev. Herman Casey officiating.

Burial will be in the WOW Cemetery.

X-rays Taken of Johnson's Disorder

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) - President Johnson visited an Army hospital here today for intestinal X-rays that will be flown to Bethesda, Md., for study by Navy doctors and a Mayo Clinic internist.

Johnson spent about 75 minutes at Brooke Army Medical Center where he was X-rayed for a chronic intestinal disorder called diverticulosis.

The Texas White House said the X-rays would be sent to the Naval Medical Center at Bethesda, where Johnson twice underwent surgery. It said the raographs would be examined by the President's personal physician, Vice Adm. George G. Burkley, and by Dr. James Cain of the Mayo Clinic, "for comparison with films taken during previous years."

The White House announced: "The President is feeling fine and is carrying on an active schedule."

However, Johnson aides never have ruled out the possibility that the X-ray findings may prompt presidential doctors to recommend surgery.

The President personally disclosed last Thursday that he was afflicted with diverticulosis, a condition that produces pouches on the inner lining of the large intestine. Normally no surgery is needed to treat this ailment.

It seemed apparent, however, that the chief executive's medical advisers were awaiting careful study of today's X-rays before making any announcement to the extent of the condition.

After reporting that the X-rays would be flown to Bethesda, the White House concluded: "Outside of this, there is nothing else to report."

At the Texas White House press center in Austin, press secretary George Christian told newsmen the procedures followed in the current situation were very little different from those in previous annual checkups.

He checked with the doctors and said X-rays taken when Johnson was in the hospital last week were not as clear as in the past, and the new ones were taken in a successful attempt to get clear ones for comparative purposes with those of other years.

In previous years, he said, Dr. Cain also has checked the

Three More Added To Plane Crash Toll

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) - Three more persons died Sunday, raising to 35 the number killed by the crash of a Piedmont Airlines plane.

Two survivors, Barbara Schiller, 19, and Thomas Voignier, 27, both of Cincinnati, remained in satisfactory condition at Charleston Memorial Hospital.

"I thought it was all a bad dream, just a bad dream," Miss Schiller said. "I wasn't even looking out the window when it happened. I blacked out and when I woke up they were throwing foam all over us."

Miss Schiller was en route to vacation at Virginia Beach with two of those who died Sunday, Judy Benhase, 20, and Sue Boskin, 19, both of Cincinnati.

Darrell Triplett, 20, of Branchland, W.Va., also died Sunday.

The twin-engine Fairchild FH227, flight 230 from Louisville, Ky., to Norfolk, Va., was making an instrument landing in fog and smoke when it crashed short of the main runway at Charleston's Kanawha Airport Saturday.

The plane skipped over the top of a 300-foot ravine before the runway and skidded 75 yards down the airstrip as it caught fire.

The crash is being investigated by the National Transportation Safety Board and the Federal Aviation Administration.

Edward E. Slattery Jr., the board's director of public affairs, said Sunday the glide slope equipment at the airport has not been operating since June 16 because of "trouble with the antenna position."

The glide slope is a phase of the airport's instrument landing system.

W. G. McGee, a Piedmont vice president, said positive identification of the bodies was expected to be finished today.

The accident was the fourth fatal crash in Piedmont's history and was the worst air disaster in West Virginia.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS:
A LESSON FOR US

One of our Founding Fathers of our country warned a long time ago that internal weaknesses might present a greater threat to the perpetuation of our country than foreign military aggression.

We now have had a first-rate example of how internal weakness can wreck a nation. Within a space of 22 years following World War II, the British empire disintegrated. The obituaries of Britain's decline have been documented in the press. What Hitler and his mighty air armada were unable to accomplish - the extinction of Britain as a world power - is now a fact of history.

From all accounts, the demise of Britain is traceable largely to socialist leaders. The energy-sapping philosophy of the welfare state which they advocated apparently played an important part in the rapid decline of British fortunes.

U. S. citizens should take note that even the mightiest nation can be brought down by its own weaknesses - just as was predicted nearly two centuries ago.

The fellow who can't keep a stiff upper lip should never try to trim a mustache.

One way to prevent shirt collars from sailing is to wash the neck.

U. S. ECONOMY IS COMMITTED TO PROFIT

America is committed to an economy based on the profit motive. The whole fabric of our society would be torn apart if this commitment were changed.

The American economic structure is composed of a multitude of separate but interacting business enterprises. It is the largest and most complicated structure ever assembled by man. Though extremely diverse with a myriad of products and services, there is an underlying objective common to all of them: They seek to make a profit.

A company expands with profits. Expansion makes more jobs and larger payrolls available. When a business does not operate at a profit, it has no money from within to invest in its growth, and it is almost impossible to attract outside investments.

All successful companies in keen competition must have a research program. As machinery becomes inadequate, it must be replaced. No modernization or research and development can take place without adequate profits.

Profits are required to pay taxes to keep our defense system operating and to pay salaries of government civil service employees. Profits finance scholarships for gifted students and donations to service and charity organizations.

It has been said that there are four forces that shape profit trends: impact of taxes, prices, cost variations, and sales volume.

In the interest of holding back another surge of inflation, business has kept the price of products at a steady level. The wholesale price trend is almost exactly flat and is not expected to change very much. The consumer price index has barely moved for several years.

There has been a continual increase in production costs, and it appears that this trend will continue. This has eaten into profits because there has been a lack of corresponding price increases.

The trend in sales has been upward, and the percentage increase in sales is reassuring; but there has also been an increase in the cost of selling.

High taxation is the greatest cause of decreased profits. With all the talk of the tax cut, many people forget there was a tax increase last year in Social Security payments by individuals, which were matched by business. This increase further reduced the margin of business profit, the the spending power of individuals. Social Security taxes went up January first, 1963, from $150 to a maximum of $174 per employee, and business must match each employee's contribution of $174 with another $174. The next Social Security tax boosts are scheduled in 1966 and 1968. If more Social Security benefits are added by Congress through the medicare proposal for instance, there will be a greater reduction in business profits.

There are many other taxes that depress profits. Last year more than $3.7 billion was paid by private business to finance government unemployment payments. Property taxes, a large portion of them paid by business, exceeded $20 billion in 1963.

Fed by the manna of taxes, bureaucracies tend to expand unchecked so that they finally consume the provider - the taxpayer.

While all the new programs are being launched, the old ones hang on tenaciously. The grow by entering new activities: The Farmers Home Administration has somehow involved itself in financing golf courses; the Rural Electrification Administration is busily helping its cooperatives serve cities and industries; the Small Business Administration tries and does lend to larger companies. The list of examples of tenacious and expanding bureaucratic agencies grows in direct proportion to the citizen's apathy: The less he cares, the more bureaucracy he will pay for.

We hear of executive consideration of a proposal to combat government spending. The idea is to set up a periodic review of federal programs. A commission, perhaps including nongovernment members, might ponder the directions taken by each program and worth of each program. This proposal could check such expanding agencies.

Let's take a look at the United States Treasury's balance sheet as the new year began.

During the first six months of the fiscal year which began July 1, 1963, the federal government took in $55 billion and spent $63 billion - $8 billion more than it received.

If every taxpayer had to pay his share of taxes to cover the public debt, he would shell out $5,159-$102 more than last year. As of the first of the year, the public debt was $309.5 billion.

Part of this debt has been caused by federal intervention in education, medical care and other welfare programs. If some have their way, these interventions will become greater and greater and take their place as "regular federal overhead expenses." What is traditionally forgotten by those who have no love for our profit system is that no society can enjoy these programs unless enough basic wealth is produced to pay for them.

Only as nations increase their wealth can they spend more and more on these needs. Trouble comes when the expected increases in real wealth begin to dry up. Difficulties are compounded by credit and statistical systems which make it harder to tell whether we are really getting richer or only think so. While figures like gross national product grow larger and larger, the real wealth can leak away.

The time comes for pinching, and people do not wish to pinch. The Welfare Staters come along and say: "It's all nonsense that you must economize. There is plenty of money. It is selfishness of the rich which keeps you from enjoying your rights. We will spend the money for what you need and deserve, and then take their surplus from them to pay for it."

This is poppycock, but it works for a time. It works, that is, if the government is allowed to inflate the money in some way so it looks as if there is enough money to pay for all the spending.

Personal enterprise and the profit motive have made our country the greatest of all nations. Constructives are believers in the sanctity of the individual and his inherent freedoms which government has no right either to grant or to take away; its only duty is to protect them. Constructives are therefore dedicated to constitutional restraints on government and their belief in thrifty handling of the people's money. Constructives want to leave the people and personal enterprise as free as possible to make their own way and to provide their own security under their own steam in a free market which they believe is the greatest guarantee of abundance.

Constructives respect the constitutional rights of the states as a curb on a powerful and oppressive central government.

In a nutshell, constructives stand for limited government with strict application of the American Constitution - the document which made the United States the richest and the freest nation on earth.

Trying to get a word in edgewise with some people is like trying to thread a sewing machine with the motor running.

The rich widow had a dinner date with her girlfriend and they decided to dine at a quaint Greenwich Village restaurant they had heard about. As they were leaving the restaurant, the widow was shocked to see her chauffeur drinking at the bar.

"What is the meaning of this?" she demanded. "You called me and told me you were sick."

Before he could reply, she ordered him to drive her home. When they arrived at the apartment, the widow called the crushed chauffeur to her bedroom. "Charles," she said, "I want you to remove my dress, now take off my slip and my stockings, next my bra and my panties ... and I never want to see you wearing my clothes again!"

BIAS IN BLOSSOM

Everyone talks about race prejudice, but is anyone really doing anything about it?

If the question is asked of the nation's schools, where the attack on prejudice must begin, the answer is almost a flat "no."

That is the conclusion of a study by the Institute for Human Development of the University of California at Berkeley, which probed friendships among teenagers at three East Coast junior high schools. Among the findings:

Children enter the eighth grade already furnished with prejudices, and they do not change greatly during the high school years.

There is a trend over the grades toward some decrease in expressed social distance toward Jews, but the change in regard to Negroes is toward increased social distance.

Prejudice toward Negroes is substantially stronger than prejudice toward Jews, by all measures and in all communities.

"The picture we gain from questionnaires answered by teachers," says psychologist M. Brewster Smith, director of the institute, "is one of passivity and unconcern. There is little or no classroom discussion about

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

DREW PEARSON SAYS: Trucking lobby's contributions cause near fight on House floor; Congressmen Dingell and McCormack involved; sizzling remarks stricken from Congressional record.

WASHINGTON--Congress adjourned in such a hurry to attend the two political conventions that some very important by-play affecting the ethics of Congress escaped attention.

One was a near fist fight between two able congressmen, John Dingell, the Detroit Democrat, and Fred Schwengel, the Cornhusker Republican. It was over the $75,000 contributed by the trucking lobby to key members of Congress and Schwengel's request that Congress investigate the ethics of these contributions.

Dingell had received $1,500. After the trucking lobby had generously sprinkled money around, three bills were given favorable consideration.

1. A bill to double the weight of trucks on federal highways; 2. A bill to limit trucking by farm co-ops in favor of commercial truckers and 3. The highway bill which favored the billboard lobby, endangered parks and historic sites and trampled on the rights of local communities to locate highways where they wanted them.

Schwengel of Iowa considered all this to be something which bordered on unethical conduct, as outlined in the recent book, "The Case Against Congress," and he wrote the House committee on standards of official conduct about it. This enraged Dingell and at one point speaker McCormack ordered some of his sizzling language stricken from the Congressional record.

FISTS FLEW

What Dingell said was: "You're a liar and a coward. If I see you in the alley, I'll plant my fist where your glasses are." He shook his fist under Schwengel's nose.

"The clerk will cut that from the record," ordered McCormack, who had left the speaker's chair and was on the floor trying to restore order.

Later there was another flare-up in the speaker's lobby, as Dingell walked past Schwengel he exclaimed:

"What I said on the floor still goes, if you want to do anything about it. I'll be glad to repeat it here. That's what I think of you."

"Listen," shot back Schwengel, "I've never backed away from a fight in my life and I won't do so here. Also, I've never falsely accused anyone knowingly in my life. I can take care of myself."

Though 61, Schwengel is one of the most physically fit members of the house. He works out in the house gym, can do more than 50 pushups, Dingell, 42, is an outdoor man and hunter.

Friends separated the two. Their altercation on the floor erupted during a speech by Schwengel urging House passage of the Senate-passed bill to reorganize Congress, improve ethical procedures and give the minority party a greater voice in legislation before committees.

Previously he had lambasted the trucking lobby for its contributions to colleagues.

"Is the gentleman charging that any of his colleagues in this body engage in any practice that is not fully ethical?" Challenged Dingell. "You have made a lot of charges and I want an answer."

Schwengel: "No, not one member."

Dingell: "If the rules permitted and I am very sorry they do not I might use some terms that would reflect rather differently the attitude I happen to feel toward you, and I do not see you in the alley, I'll plant my fist where your glasses are." He

At this point, Dingell's comments, which were expunged by speaker McCormack, took place. However, almost as soon as the atmosphere quieted down, it heated up again. Referring to the trucking lobby's campaign contributions, Schwengel declared:

"I have no proof that any one member was unduly influenced. I just know of a set of circumstances that look suspicious. I do not point a finger at any member of this body as having done anything wrong."

NOT TOO BRIGHT

DINGELL: "I am aware of the fact that the member from Iowa is not too bright, but I wonder if he is even aware of the fact that I am not a member of the committee that considered those matters."

Schwengel: "I am not accusing you or any member of the house."

Dingell: "All right, I want it to be very clear because you do have the protection against libel laws here on the floor of the Congress."

Schwengel: "I wrote a letter."

Dingell: "I believe you have said quite enough."

Schwengel: "The letter is addressed to the chairman of the House committee on standards of official conduct. It reads, in part, 'this is not to imply that any member was actually unduly influenced by money given to his campaign fund by the American truckers association.' That ought to be clear enough."

At this point, Dingell made a point of order that a quorum was not present, in order to shut off Schwengel from further discussion. Then, at McCormack's suggestion, he withdrew the point of order. Both men left the floor, only to square off again in the speaker's lobby.

A vote just completed by the National Federation of Independent Business on proposed legislation, which would in affect permit SBA to make loans for equity capital, finds the nation's independent business proprietors quite divided in opinion.

The bill, by Rep. John G. Dow, New York, would authorize the SBA to make loans up to 20 years instead of the present 10 year limit. Only 47 per cent are in favor, with 48 per cent opposed, and 5 per cent undecided.

In Missouri the vote is 48 per cent in favor, 47 per cent opposed, with 5 per cent undecided.

Undetermined is how strongly this vote was influenced by the public disclosures made by the new SBA Administrator on operations of the Small Business Investment Corporations and by currently increasing interest rates.

Biggest Tee-Off -- San Francisco's annual golf tourney, with more than 2,000 men and women participants, has fashion support with apparel-purveyors Roos/Atkins acting as sponsor for the 20th consecutive year. One final word of reassurance. If in 1968 your cup runneth over, IRS will be right there with a sponge.

"Marry me, darling, and I'll make you the happiest woman in 50 states."

"No, thank you. None of this life in a trailer for me!"

INCENTIVE REDUCTION GUARANTEED

The question continues to arise as to whether large numbers of the American people have come to accept communist doctrine under the guise of something else. An example is the idea, freely advanced by some social theorists, that an ideal society can be created by taking from those who have and giving to those who have not - as by the so-called guaranteed annual income.

When it is analyzed, this theory closely parallels the tenet of Marx and Lenin: from each according to his ability, to each according to his need.

A program based on this doctrine is certain to remove from our most capable people the incentive to produce. The purpose and process of the personal enterprise system of economics will be defeated, and that system replaced by some form of socialism. Nor will such a program create in less productive people any incentive to produce, so they will continue to be unproductive.

Human nature being what it is, people do not exert their best efforts when opportunity for achievement of a personal nature is not made available to them.

We have not yet reached the point in the United States where it is acceptable to be known as a communist. Our nation has not accepted as its own the methods, morality and deceptions of the communists. But there is an increasing and alarming number of ways in which American social theory has embraced communist doctrine, even though in disguised form. Freedomists must be concerned by this circumstance. HLH

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

HOODLUM HILL BUDDY on Ed Long were thoroughly examined by the Ethics Committee.

Even what they found is not important. Obviously all was handled legally by Long, including the $150,000 he has received in "referral fees" from that one-man political machine, St. Louis criminal lawyer Morris Shenker, since 1961.

What is vital is that Shenker, select ethical practices committee, which gathered considerable evidence on the relationships of Missouri's Senator Ed Long, friend of many a hoodlum, and then buried its documentation so no news of it would leak out, and no hearings would be held, and no word of interlocking relationships would affect the Missouri's chances for winning last Tuesday's primary.

Well, despite powerful and utterly expensive support by some of the toughest and most unsavory teamsters in the land, Ed Long lost.

But why did the men of national stature, whose names and influence lend prestige to the Select Committee on Standards and Conduct, grant political charity to Ed Long?

And is it not time to ask bluntly why Congress itself has not probed other members in both houses who have hoodlum connections in New York, New Jersey, and points south and west?

Why has the Senate ethics committee locked up its files? Although Mr. Long's defeat now perhaps makes the probe academic in the upper house, it is hardly academic in the upper house, it is hardly academic in the homes of this country.

On this ethics committee are Senators John Stennis, John Sherman Cooper, Gene McCarthy, Wallace Bennett, Mike Monroney, and James Pearson. They are all honorable men, as Bill Shakespeare once said.

Yet was it honorable for one or two of them to have sat both with the late Teamsters' bag carrier Sidney Zagri, and also on this ethics body?

It is not so much Ed Long's association and socializing with Jimmy Hoffa, tough Roy Williams, a Teamsters' National Trustee (intensely investigated by the Justice Dept.'s Organized Crime and Racketeering Section) and other teamsters, which is involved here.

What is of concern is his relationship with those who do influence - and used it heavily in that huge apple barrel known as the Teamsters' Central States Southeast and Southwest Area Pension Fund.

From the Southern District of New York to the lush areas of California, U.S. Attorneys call this the "tainted" fund. How many millions have been drawn from it under the skilled fingering of influence peddlers and finders at corrupt fees?

It could run as high as $200 million, or as low as $125 million. It has been reported that the Internal Revenue Service records

I-SC Wins Tourney

Rain halted Saturday night's schedule of the 13th annual Little League baseball tournament at Farris field but the teams got together yesterday afternoon to decide the outcome. What started out with 14 teams dwindled to four.

Illmo - Scott City topped the tournament title by defeating its second Sikeston entry into the tournament, the National League Aces, 5 to 3 after taking care of the National's All-Stars earlier last week.

Cairo shut out Morley 9-0 behind the no hit pitching of Bruce Brinkmeyer, who was selected one of the two outstanding players of the tournament. The other was the Aces' Jim Sautters, the athlete who rapped two home runs in one inning during a semifinal game with Cairo.

Dexter was presented the Sportsmanship award.

Receiving honorable mention as outstanding players were Fince Schaefer of Illmo-Scott City; Danny Freeman of Morley; Kenny Stokes of the National League All-Stars and Rick Dyer and Terry Winchester of the National League Aces.

Birds Duel Cubs; Braves Take One

CHICAGO (AP) — Larry Jaster got back in the pitching rotation today for the St. Louis Cardinals after missing a turn because of his recent mediocre performances.

Jaster (8-7) pitched against the second-place Chicago Cubs' Bill Hands (13-6). That's right, the second-place Cubs. And the Cubs almost have to take three of the four games with the Cardinals if they are going to make any bid to overhaul the National League leaders. Chicago trails the Redbirds by 14 games.

The Atlanta Braves tried it and couldn't do it. The Braves did beat the Cardinals 5-3 Sunday, but it was the only game of the three-game series they took.

Pat Jarvis (11-9) went most of the way for the Braves. He was relieved in the ninth inning when the Cardinals scored their last run of the game.

The Cardinals had taken a quick lead on Mike Shannon's 14th homer of the season, a solo shot in the second inning. But Jarvis held on and the Braves put him ahead with five runs in the fourth inning.

Bob Tillman, who was placed in the lineup for ailing catcher Joe Torre started loser Steve Carlton's downfall with a oneout single. After a walk and an out,

Big Red Face Chiefs Saturday

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas City will take on the tough St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League here Saturday night without Curtis McCClinton, one of the best all-around fullbacks in pro ball.

The 6-foot-3, 232-pound former Kansas star fractured a cheek bone in Kansas City's 13-10 victory over the NFL Minnesota Vikings Saturday night, before 46,228 at Minneapolis.

McCClinton is an outstanding blocker, runner and pass receiver. He will miss the last three exhibition games with St. Louis, Oakland and Los Angeles. Wendell Hayes, obtained from Denver in a winter trade, is an excellent runner, but McCClinton's blocking and pass receiving will be missed.

Coach Hank Stram is determined to keep his squad from reaching an emotional peak for any game. He calls the St. Louis game "just another game."

But he admits the old relaxed exhibition game is no more.

It's bound to be something more than that to the fans. A sellout of 49,002 is likely. The Cards looked good in a 2-7 victory over Pittsburgh. They are anxious to prove last year's squad dissension is a thing of the past. And NFL-AFL rivalry is still a factor.

Stram was kidded by quarterback Len Dawson after the bruising Minnesota game.

The other Chief regulars also played most of the way. Mike Garrett carried 26 times for 90 yards. Jan Stenerud kicked a 15-yard field goal to win it with 47 seconds left and a 29-yarder for a 10-10 tie. Dawson hit 12 of 21 passes for 152 yards, including a 40-yard play-action TD to Frank Pitts for a 7-7 tie in the third period. The Vikings led 7-0 at the half.

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP) — Ron Holmberg of Highland Falls, N.Y., played some of the best tennis in his long career Sunday to defeat Gene Scott of St. James, N.Y., 6-4, 1-6, 6-3, 13-11 to win the 7th Meadow Club Invitational Grass Court Tournament.

Only parts of the Deer Run and Peck Ranch areas will be open.

The maximum numbers of hunters to be permitted on the areas are 150 at Deer Run, 75 at Drury, 150 at Indian Trail, and 300 at Peck Ranch.

The hunts will be Nov. 16 and 17, the first two days of the 1968 firearms deer season. No other firearms deer hunting will be permitted in those areas this year. The Mincy Wildlife Area in Taney County has been closed to firearms deer hunting this year.

Applications for permits to hunt the four special areas will not be accepted before Sept. 1 or after Oct. 14. Successful applicants will be determined by a drawing Oct. 15.

Applications must be on post cards, and only one application for each person or party will be allowed. Duplicate applications will disqualify all applications by that individual or party. Application cards must show the name and address, including zip code, of each person.

Because no duplicate applications will be allowed, the card should also indicate first and second choices of areas.

Hunters who wish to hunt the same area as a group may file an application card containing not more than six names and addresses. Such applications will be handled on an or none basis. Reservations will not be transferable, and only the hunter whose name appears on the reservations will not be transferable, and only the hunter whose name appears on the reservation list will be admitted. Reservation cards will be issued to hunters successful in the drawing, and unsuccessful applicants will be notified.

Deer Run and Indian Trail Areas may be scouted by hunters before the special season opens, but advance scouting of Drury or Peck Ranch will not be permitted. Camping will be permitted near the areas, and hunters must check in and out each day. Maps will be available at the areas at the time of check-in.

Similar hunts were held on three of these areas last year. At Peck Ranch, 261 hunters took 86 deer; at Indian Trail, 113 hunters took 18 deer; and at Deer Run, 95 hunters took 11 deer. Drury Refuge was not open last year.

Wellington, Kan., will meet Sedalia, Mo., tonight in the finals of the Midwest Regional Babe Ruth Baseball Tournament, which was moved to Ashland Sunday because of rain at Wellington.

By beating Sedalia 3-2 in the winners' bracket Sunday, Wellington remained the only undefeated team, and a victory tonight will wrap up the title. If Sedalia wins tonight, a second game will be required.

In other Sunday games, Indianola, Iowa, eliminated Tri-County of Kansas 5-4, and Sedalia knocked out Indianola 7-4. Sedalia beat Sikeston for the Missouri State title.

AP - Joplin will meet Thoman-Boothe of St. Louis in a best-of-three series at Jefferson City this weekend for the Missouri American Legion baseball championship.

Joplin won the Western zone title in Trenton Sunday by edging Springfield 7-5 after Springfield defeated Independence 2-1 earlier in the day.

Thoman-Boothe took the Eastern zone crown at St. Ann with a 7-5 victory over Gardenville-Aifton.

MSHSAAA FOOTBALL

Football rules interpretation meetings sponsored by the Missouri State High School Activities Association will get under way Friday August 23. The meetings, conducted by outstanding high school football officials, will be held at 22 sites throughout the state for the purpose of informing officials and coaches of new rules changes and interpretations. The program of rules meetings is one phase of a comprehensive program of the MSHSAA to improve officiating and thereby enhance the value of athletics to high school youth.

Preceding the series of meetings for officials, on all-day sessions for interpreters will be held Saturday, August 17, at the MSHSAA Office, Jack W. Miles, Assistant Executive Secretary of the MSHSAA who is in charge of the Association's program for officials, will present the rules changes and interpretations that are to be presented at the meetings for officials.

All football officials are required to attend one of the meetings in their area as one of the requirements for renewing registration in 1969. High School head football coaches are also required to attend one of the meetings as a means of acquiring a better understanding of the interpretations that will be followed by officials this year. Players, timekeepers, p.a. announcers, sports writers and sports casters are also invited to attend.

The schedule for the meetings to be held in our area is as follows:

Cape Girardeau: SEMSC Gym, September 4, 7:30, Ben Bidewell.

THEIR TRIUMPHS and THEIR TRAGEDIES

The triumphs and tragedies of the Kennedys during their progress from famine-stricken Ireland to seats of power in Wall Street and Washington has been one of the most amazing family epics of this era.

Now for the first time it has all been put together in one handsome hardback, lavishly illustrated book. It was produced by outstanding writers, editors and photographers of the world's largest news gathering organization—The Associated Press. HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT BEGINS BILLION DOLLAR FIVE-YEAR PLAN.
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — Missouri plans to spend almost a billion dollars in the next five years on highway right of ways and construction, according to a statement by chief engineer M. J. Snider of the State Highway Commission.

One of the first projects of the five year plan, which started July 1, is resumption of work on improving U.S. 71 from south of Harrisonville to the Arkansas state line. Work had stopped with the passage of the Missouri toll road law that would have provided a toll road in that area. In July, however, the Missouri Supreme Court ruled the law unconstitutional on grounds that highway user funds could not be used for anything except construction and maintenance of free roads.

Other construction plans in the five year program cover the entire state and include all types of highways. Of the $1 billion, about $838,420,000 is earmarked for the interstate, primary and supplementary systems. Urban areas (areas with 5,000 or more population) will account for $157,514,000. The breakdown for the urban total is: $48,941,000 for the Kansas City area; $72,955,000 for the St. Louis area; and $35,618,000 for other urban areas.

Plans for the U.S. 71 project call for freeway standards with dual, divided lanes and limited access. Snider said work would be pushed on projects for which plans are nearer completion, such as the Butler and Nevada bypasses.

"Then we plan to concentrate on filling the gaps, working from the north to provide long stretches of completed roadway as soon as possible," Snider said.

LAKE AREA TO GET SPECIAL BOOST IN NEXT MONTH

Missouri's wonderful recreation areas around the Lake of the Ozarks is going to be the subject of dozens of articles in sports and boating magazines, newspapers and trade journals within the next few weeks, following a visit to the area by 75 of the nation's top sports and boating writers.

The group was invited to enjoy two days at the Lodge of the Four Seasons on the lake to preview the 1969 models of boats and motors produced by Chrysler Corporation. As part of the special showing, the writers test drove all the new boats, affording them a chance to view the lake and its many developments.

The writers were impressed with the new boats and motors, and doubly impressed with the beauty of the Missouri lake. It was the first visit for many, and most all of them said they'd want to return with their families for personal vacations.

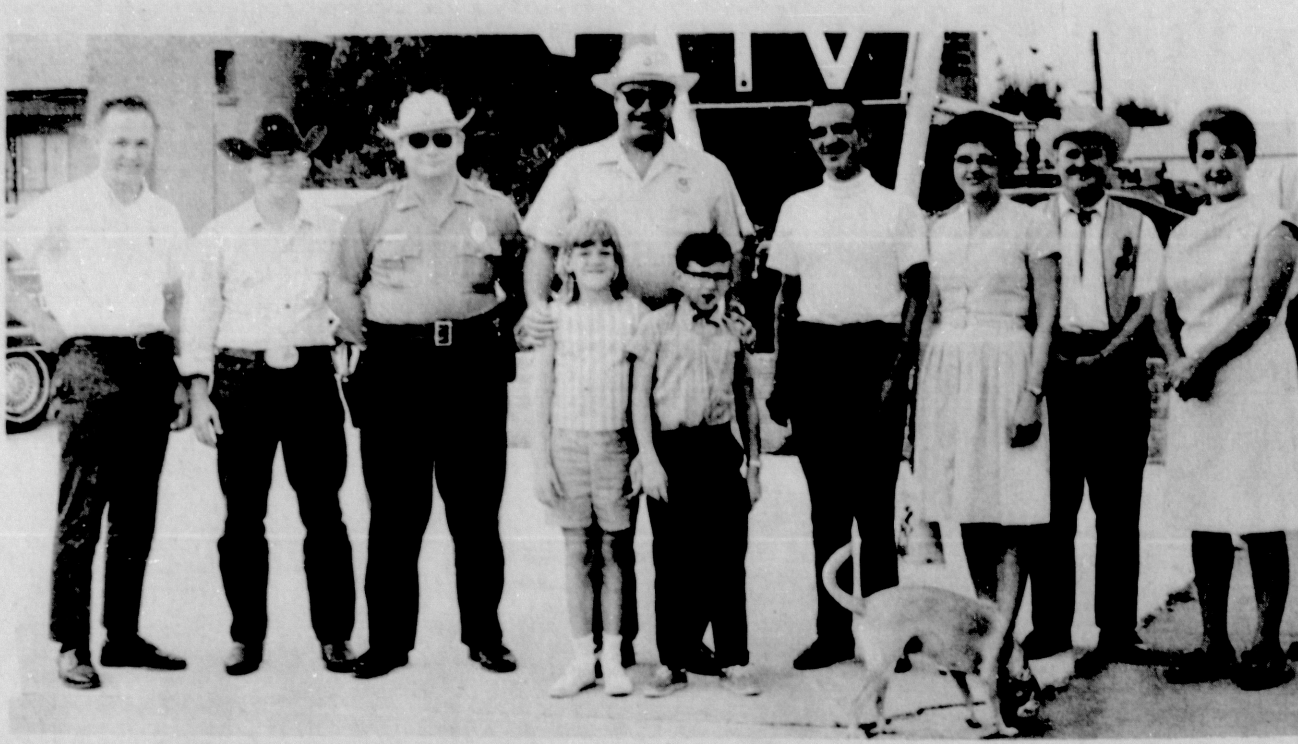

"It's truly a lovely place," commented E. T. Bates, veteran sports editor of the Chattanooga News-Free Press, "but there is one problem — accessibility. It requires a combination of jets, drop planes and chartered busses to get us down here. There doesn't seem to be an easy way to do it."

The accessibility problem will not last much longer, with special though, according to Howard Maguire, engineer for the state aviation department of the Division of Commerce and Industrial Development. An urban and developed areas, airport with facilities to mow more frequent and accommodate all classes of aircraft, including the lawns in towns.

DC-9s has been blueprinted and should be built within the next two years, depending on approval of federal funds which will aid in the construction. Also, highway work is now eliminate objectionable growth, underway near the Bagnell Dam but to keep the vegetation at a area to provide divided highway desirable height without as much traveling from Jefferson City to mowing.

In addition, the department with the sports writers, plus the honeysuckle and Crown Vetch, advertising campaign now both vine-like plants which do under way by the Missouri not require mowing, and plans Tourism Commission, will fast to plant them wherever possible spread the word on how to cut down on the annual job.

Missouri is as a Now, maybe your three vacation spot and should hours a week on the old increase the tourism dollars now homestead doesn't seem so bad already entering the state at an after all...

Ann Landers

There Comes Time When Daughter Must Break Ties

Dear Ann Landers: "Picked On Teen" needs more advice than you gave her. Perhaps I can succeed where you failed. I had a mother like hers and she nearly wrecked my life. I'd like to tell that girl what a kindly clergyman told me.

Dear Picked On: No one can give anyone else a nervous breakdown. If a person has a nervous breakdown it is because he or she cannot stand the strain and stress of life.

My mother always used her nerves as a club to keep everyone in line. If she didn't get her way she would yell at my father, "You're going to give me a nervous breakdown." It always worked. When I got older she used the same technique on me. I was so afraid I'd be responsible for sending my mother to a mental institution that I obeyed her every command and broke my neck to satisfy her slightest whim.

When I was 23 I began to date a medical student. He was the kindest and most intelligent man I had ever known. We fell deeply in love. Mother hated him because he was short and his family was poor and undistinguished. When I told her we were going to be married she said, "If you marry that runt I'll have a nervous breakdown." I became so confused and unsure of myself I developed terrible headaches and couldn't go to work.

My doctor urged me to talk to my clergyman. My clergyman advised me to tell my mother that if my marriage was going to cause her to have a nervous breakdown I was sorry but I was going ahead with the marriage.

That was 10 years ago. Mother has been surprisingly easy to live with since I called her bluff. She now enjoys her four grandchildren and has never mentioned a nervous breakdown since. — RUG PULLED

Dear Rug: Thanks for your fine letter. You certainly gave "Picked On Teen" more help than I did, and I thank you.

Dear Ann Landers: I confess I used to read your column for kicks but now I am hooked by your good advice. You let me down badly the other day when you gave a flip reply to the woman who wanted to know if she should spend $100 on a suit to bury her uncle in. The woman said he was an atheist and she was afraid she'd get a lot of criticism from her religious relatives. You replied, "Don't spend $100 on a burial suit for an atheist. He'd be all dressed up with no place to go."

How do you know where he is going? Have you ever known anyone who came back with a report? Some very outstanding people in this world are atheists or agnostics. In my opinion you owe them all an apology. — VALLEJO READER

Dear Reader: I'm sorry if you thought I was flip, but humor can be a useful device and I sometimes use it when I feel it would be pointless to engage in serious debate.

You are right when you say many distinguished individuals are nonbelievers. While I respect their right to hold an opinion different than mine, I also feel sorry that they may one day be deprived of the strength and the enormous emotional support that belongs to those who have faith in God.

Confidential to Him And Me: Tell your friend all kinds of people read this column for all kinds of reasons. It is strange that he describes your interest as "the morbid curiosity of an eavesdropper or a window-peeper" while he claims his interest is that of a sociologist who wishes to explore behavior problems of the masses. Tell him applesauce.

Is Alcoholism a disease? How can the alcoholic be treated? Is there a cure? Read the booklet "Alcoholism - Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 35 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

New higher interest rates on Savings Bonds and Freedom Shares

Now U.S. Savings Bonds pay 4 1/4 %, new Freedom Shares pay 5%.

Today, Savings Bonds are a better investment than ever. Now they pay 4 1/4 % when held to maturity. And new Freedom Shares pay a full 5% when held to maturity.

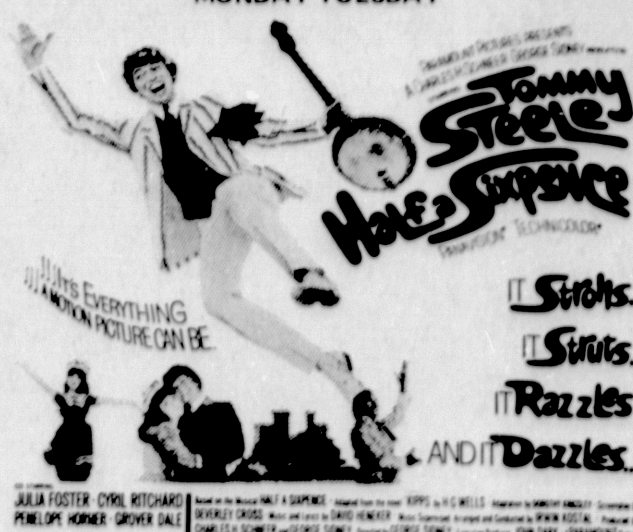

Freedom Shares are still sold on a one-for-one basis with Series E Bonds, but now you can buy the combination any time at your bank—and not just on a regular monthly plan as before.

The higher interest rate on Savings Bonds applies not only to the new ones you buy, but to your older ones too for their remaining period to maturity—generally effective with the first full six-months interest period beginning on or after June 1. (Outstanding Freedom Shares are not affected).

Buy Bonds and new Freedom Shares—help yourself even more as you're helping your country.

If You Were the Judge Will Must Do More Than Disinherit

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Max didn't believe in relativity, particularly when it came to his brother Ival who had been his constant rival in life. The only thing they ever agreed upon was that they didn't like each other. Consequently, when Max suddenly realized his days were numbered, he hurriedly wrote out a strong note that read: "I don't want any good-for-nothing brother to inherit any of my property."

Nevertheless, when Max subsequently died, Ival was Johnny-on-the-spot to claim his share of Max's estate as Max's brother.

"He's not entitled to it," argued a verbal other hopeful relatives in court. "Max's will specifically disinherited him."

"That was no will, that was a don't," was Ival's answer. "A person can't disinherit a brother by just writing a note saying don't give my brother any of my estate."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit Ival to receive his share of the estate of his brother Max?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that to be considered a will, a paper or document must direct some affirmative action with regard to his estate. It cannot merely disinherit someone.

Today In U.S. History

Today is Monday, August 12, the 225th day of 1968. There are 141 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1914, Britain declared war on Austria-Hungary at the start of the First World War.

On this date:

In 1658, a guard of eight men was established in the Dutch colony of New Amsterdam. It was the first police force in America.

In 1851, Isaac Singer of Pittsford, New York, was granted a patent on his sewing machine.

In 1898, a peace protocol was signed ending the Spanish-American War after hostilities lasting three months and 22 days.

In 1941, President Franklin D. Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill met at sea to draft the Atlantic Charter.

In 1959, token integration began in Little Rock, Ark., as six Negro students enrolled in formerly all-white schools.

In 1962, the Soviet Union made space history by sending a cosmonaut into orbit while another cosmonaut already was circling the earth.

Ten years ago—Forces of the Cuban rebel leader, Fidel Castro, were reported openly fighting against the government in four of the six provinces in Cuba.

Five years ago—The United States ordered the extradition of former Venezuelan dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez, who was wanted in Venezuela on charges of embezzlement.

One year ago—Pope Paul the Sixth gave a wider voice in the Vatican to Bishops from around the world by creating new posts for them in the Roman Catholic Church's ruling body, the Curia.
